ATMOSPHERIC SPACE ANIMALS DO EXIST!

You'll probably have noticed a very unusual photograph on the cover of this issue of the UFO REVIEW, and with this in mind I want to tell you about my own encounter with a "space animal."

For many years, the theory of "space critters" has been one which fascinates many investigators. Trevor Constable, who worked with Wilhelm Reich on his mysterious and powerful "cloud buster" device, has long been the leading proponent of the concept that some UFO sightings can be explained by the fact that there are "space critters" or animals which "swim" in our upper atmosphere and perhaps even in space itself. These forms of life may or may not have much intelligence but they look much as an amoeba does beneath a telescope.

It should be pointed out that Trevor Constable also acknowledged that other UFO sightings are literally extraterrestrial and/or dimensional craft. He feels that science must learn to differentiate between these, accepting the existence of both.

There have been many fascinating sightings of these "critters" which seem to "swim" high in earth's stratosphere. I sighted one which looked like a giant manta ray swimming high above Knotts Berry Farm Amusement Park in April, 1983. My daughter and I had gone to this "theme park" outside of Los Angeles with a good friend who is a total non-believer in any sort of UFOs. We had spent an enjoyable afternoon at Knotts Farm and were just heading for the main exit when I spotted something very strange overhead. As I was looking up, everyone in the vicinity looked up to see what I was looking at (I was also jumping up and down, showing my non-believer friend an actual UFO! I felt it was the perfect occasion!). No one in the crowd, including my friend, could offer an explanation for this strange sight. It glowed, was obviously very high in the sky, and fluctuated like a swimming animal, rippling and changing form with great ease. This was no ad plane, no high-flying jet. My friend became a believer that there are things "up there" for which we have no explanation at the present time. And I had seen my first, and so far only, "critter" 470. Whenever I see a man ray, I am reminded of its shape and of its bizarre movements as it "swam" through the sky that evening over Knotts Berry Farm. ■

STRANGE ENCOUNTERS

BY DIANE TESSMAN

In the last installment of this column we carried an amazing account of a military man who found himself wandering naked along the road, two weeks of time missing from his life. His car was later found atop a mountain which is totally inaccessible to any vehicle.

In this issue, a new report has reached us from Santiago, Chile, which has many parallels. The headlines of the Santiago newspaper in March of 1983 reads: Chilean Woman Carried Off In Her Car By A Flying Saucer!

The Ultimas Noticias goes on to document the abduction of Marisol Espinoza, age 22, who claims that after the abduction, the UFO occupants dropped her at the edge of a ravine in her car. She explained that she had been driving along a mountain road at night when she sensed another "force" had control of her car. Her attempts to steer the car were useless and as the frightened woman peered up through the windshield, her car was sucked into the air by a circular object with brilliant violet lights around its circumference.

Miss Espinoza, though badly shaken after the incident, seems to be a credible and intelligent witness; yet, she has no conscious recollection of what transpired during those moments when she was in her car, being levitated by a UFO!

She later had to walk home because the car's engine wouldn't start (a very common phenomenon when a car's engine has come in close contact with UFO energy fields). Her father testified that Miss Espinoza had returned home "in a terrible state" with her shoes ruined from walking through the rough countryside.

Upon leaving the local police station after questioning, Miss

Espinoza and her father revealed that they had again seen the UFO (or one very similar) in their vicinity. Perhaps the UFO occupants were doublechecking to see if a device which had been implanted in Miss Espinoza was functioning properly.

In a similar incident, a young woman and her sick child were driving along a dark Texas road when they were "sucked up" by a UFO. Parts of this encounter were remembered in a hazy, distant way by the mother: the car was pulled into what looked like a huge "shuttle bay" and the woman and her child were led to medical facilities. The child was miraculously cured. The woman once again found herself and child in the car on the dark road, with the saucer speeding away overhead. The child had been suffering from a severe bronchial infection and the mother was rushing home from several hundred miles' distance to get her daughter to her regular doctor. Now there was no need to rush, for after this strange encounter, the child was the picture of health!

We cannot at this time explain the logic of an alien race which would leave cars perched on the tip of mountains or the edges of ravines, but we can understand the goodness of an alien race who would heal a severely ill child and then set her and her mother back down again on the dark road they had been traveling. Though Miss Espinoza and the military man (Richard) underwent physical stress and mental anguish, these were brought on more by the questioning and disbelief of earth officials than by the actions of the UFO occupants. Still, the reason for these abductions and the need for returning the cars to the edge of mountains is a strange and unanswered question. ■

SUBSCRIPTION INFORMATION

Each issue we mail several thousand copies of the UFO REVIEW to people who may not know about our publication. You can tell your status by looking at the identification number above your name on the address label on the backside of this paper. You are only a subscriber if your identification begins with an "AH" or an "A" higher in value (i.e. AI, AJ, AK, AL, etc.). If your code is below an "AH" (i.e. AG, AF, AE) it means your subscription has expired and this will be the last issue you will receive. Likewise, if there is a letter "R" or some other strange code above your name this issue is being sent as a sample and we hope you will take this opportunity to subscribe (see order blank on page 16) and/or order books from us.

A FIRST PERSON EXPERIENCE

THE BIZARRE HAPPENING BEGAN WHEN A UFO HOVERED ACROSS THE STREET. SHORTLY THEREAFTER THE ANIMALS STARTED ACTING UP, STRANGE SHADOWS WERE SEEN IN THE HOUSE, OBJECTS BEGAN TO DISAPPEAR, ELECTRICAL DEVICES MALFUNCTIONED, AND AN EERIE PRESENCE COULD BE FELT, LEAVING EVERYONE TO BELIEVE SOMEONE — OR "SOMETHING" — NEW HAD JOINED THE FAMILY.

THE NIGHT ET RETURNED HOME

by Ellen Boyer

The Boyers' (a pseudonym) are a large, loving, family who occupy a modest home in a rural area of New Jersey. Ellen and her husband have six children of their own ranging in age from two years to twenty-seven. Ellen's daughter, Rita, is, herself, married having children who, along with her husband, occupy the family's basement apartment. Because they are not looking for any attention this story might bring them, we have agreed to keep the identity of the family involved in this ongoing incident, a secret. However, their total sincerity can be attested to by the publisher of the UFO REVIEW who has known them personally just about all of his life.

As far as was noticed, the bizarre happenings which have centered around this household, began in the late summer of 1982, when a mysterious object was observed hovering over some trees across the street at approximately five in the morning by Mr. Boyer who was returning home from an emergency call. Though nothing unusual happened for quite some time after the sighting, it later became apparent, that the UFO directly tied in with the many manifestations which threatened to alter the course of the family's lives, and was probably the catalyst which triggered the start of this unearthly series of events which finally ended when their unseen visitor was taken home.

Though there have been numerous incidents in which households have literally been beset by invisible entities, the assumption is normally made that the disturbance is caused by spirits of the dead and not alien beings. In recent years, however, an awareness has come about which confirms the fact that quite often UFOlogical events can closely parallel those of psychic or parapsychological nature, and that not all extraterrestrials need necessarily be flesh and blood creatures. Research has pretty much established the fact that unseen beings who exist in different dimensions or vibratory levels are around us all the time, but can only be "felt" or "sensed" upon occasion. Apparently, this is one such case which proves that there is more in heaven and upon earth than is dreamed of.

I have reason to believe that an ET resided in our home for over a year, and that we felt his presence though we might not have realized the identity of our uninvited visitor.

We first noticed something strange going on when the weather started to turn warm last summer and the dogs in our yard began to act peculiar. They would bark all night long, keeping the family awake. One night my dog, Max, began to shake like a leaf. His tongue was hanging out and he was dripping saliva though there was absolutely no reason for him to be acting this way.

My daughter, who first brought my attention to the dog, suggested I bring him indoors. I told her I wanted to, but I was afraid that he might get sick in the house. No matter what I did, I couldn't shut him up. I couldn't stop him from shaking. I tried giving him water, but he wouldn't drink. He didn't want anything, he just kept running around and barking all night long.

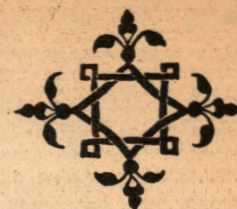

One of my five sons, also said there was something wrong with his dog. He said all the animals seemed to be nervous. His dog almost hung himself trying to jump over the fence.

The next day the three littlest children in the house, Danny, 3, J.R., 4, and Glen, 4, went outside to play. They took a jar of jelly beans and some toys with them and had a picnic. I was doing the laundry indoors when J.R. came inside and told me and my daughter (his mother), that he was through. He said, "The man told us, no more picnic." We didn't think anything of it.

RETURN OF THE SILENCERS!

BY ROBERT BARRY

MEN IN BLACK AT IT AGAIN

Bob Barry began his investigations in 1957 as a correspondent for the Buffalo Evening News, as well as news director for an Olean, N.Y. broadcasting station. He was also a Civil Defense Director at the time. Currently, he is the head of the 20th Century UFO Bureau and MC of the UFO MONITOR, a syndicated radio program heard in seven states and four Canadian provinces. Bob lectures widely, sponsoring seminars in various cities. The main focus of his research has been in the area of crashed UFOs and surviving aliens which is what, he believes, led to these recent attempts to silence one very well known researcher.

soon became apparent that nobody was saying anything about a landed UFO.

The journalist finally hit pay dirt when she managed to secure information from a few courageous individuals brave enough to come forth, though they would not permit their names to be used.

These individuals claimed that a UFO did indeed land in town the previous night and remained there several minutes before departing and vanishing into the heavens.

These same residents told of a black "Government-type" car which had arrived within an hour after the UFO's departure, and three men in black, converged on the town residents instructing them to remain totally silent about what they had seen. All did except these brave few.

For her next move the reporter went to the police and was amazed to find absolutely NOTHING on record either in the county or city files. Contact was made with additional police units in and near the vicinity. Nothing was to be forthcoming. The reporter had run into a solid wall of silence.

GOVT. AGENT DEMANDS FILM

It was Lancaster County and the date was January 21, 1977; once more I had appeared as a guest on a news-oriented program during the noon hour on a local television station.

During the interview I showed a film taken of a circular-shaped craft hovering at tree-top level in the state of Oregon during 1964. It was filmed by a gentleman who at one time was affiliated in rocketry research for the government at White Sands Proving Grounds, New Mexico. Many features stood out sharp and clear on the brilliantly-white craft including a rim section and a protrusion at the top and bottom center. The interview was very well received by the viewers. Especially one!

Later the same year, I was invited to appear again. The date was August 19, 1977 and prior to going on, I learned of a most unusual incident.

The hostess of the telecast told me that shortly after I left the TV studio on January 21st, she received a telephone call from a man who identified himself as being with a U.S. government agency.

He was very upset over the showing of the Oregon UFO film and requested a video tape copy of the interview. It so happened, since it was a "live" appearance, they did not video tape the session.

He was quite outraged to think that it wasn't copied on video tape and disgustingly hung up on her.

That was on August 19, 1977 when I was told of this incident. It was also the last time I was to appear on that noon hour telecast. I was never invited again. Coincidental? Perhaps. But there's more!

MOTION PICTURE STUDIO SILENCED

On the 30th of March 1977, a Western Union Mailgram was sent to the 20th Century UFO Bureau, of which I am director. It was dispatched by a film corporation in the Western United States.

They were seeking information on UFOs for a major motion picture to be based on fact but dramatized by professional actors.

The data they most desired centered on three areas:

1. Government contact with UFOs.
2. The government's withholding of evidence.
3. Information on UFO crashes and the withholding of that information by the government from the public.

It was the latter category that I would be able to supply them the desired material needed for such a film. As a result, I made contact with them and was flown to one of their major offices at which time I presented the material.

This material involved a crashed UFO in the state of New Mexico during the year of 1962. An outline of the complete incident was prepared and submitted for their consideration.

Many facets of the case were listed, including the tracking of the UFO on military radarscopes in the southwestern United States, an intercept mission undertaken, the performance of the space craft which indicated flight difficulty and the crash of the vehicle some 80 miles south of Holloman Air Force Base.

The size and basic description of the craft was given along with the discovery of two alien cadavers within the craft. I also related where the bodies were eventually taken for scientific study, details of their body structure, and what happened to the space for the corporation.

The contract was mailed to me on June 17, 1977. By the time I received the contract and reviewed it and made my call to him, it was around June 20th or later.

I was, at this point, just a few days away from receiving a letter with a heading which read: "Central Intelli-

ARE THE SILENCERS ACTIVE AGAIN?

Over the last three decades various attempts have been made to silence individuals who have experienced sightings or close encounters, and certain UFO researchers have recently become involved as well.

"MEN IN BLACK"

It was during the 1950's and '60's that the incidents became most prominent. Such cases usually involved three men dressed in dark clothing who drove black limos. The Men In Black, without fail, turned up shortly after a sighting, often flashing Air Force credentials or in a few instances, NORAS identification cards, and told witnesses to "keep quiet." Sometimes the threats went further and valuable evidence such as photographs and soil samples were confiscated. Some researchers thought they might be representatives of a secret government agency, but one thing always stood out like a sore thumb: the Men In Black knew about these UFO cases and were familiar with the persons involved before the witnesses had a chance to report their experiences to anyone!

AN ENTIRE TOWN IS SILENCED.

It was during the early 1970's when I first became involved in a bizarre series of incidents involving these sinister individuals. I had been interviewed by a lady news reporter for a Philadelphia television station, and in a private conversation, she related an incident that happened to her while employed by a Lancaster, Penn. news outlet.

It was late at night when she learned that a UFO had supposedly landed in a small borough near Lancaster. Taking camera, paper and pencil, she hopped into her car and began the short drive to the town involved.

As she approached her destination, she was greeted by a barricade. The police were preventing traffic from entering the town. Though she displayed all the proper news credentials, she was refused admission and was told to leave the area at once.

By the time she arrived home, it was nearing midnight and so wisely she decided to call it a day. Bright and early the following morning, however, she was enroute to the UFO landing site, but by this time the reporter discovered the barricade was gone. Upon arrival, local residents were questioned, but it gence Agency, Washington, D.C." Dated the 30th of June 1977, I was informed that recent reports received from CIA field representatives indicated I had received information I shouldn't have. The letter in part said the following: "A check of your file in the Domestic Collection Division of the UFO records center does not indicate you were ever cleared to receive crypto material."

The CIA letter indicated they were aware of the two motion picture companies in the process of producing a film on crashed UFOs and government suppression. I was told the following: "Neither of these companies is receiving cooperation on their respective projects from this agency."

This would seem to indicate that the cooperation of the Central Intelligence Agency would be required if either of the film companies were to release such a film on this particular phase of the UFO subject.

Not only that, but I was further informed that the "Director of Central Intelligence" is totally opposed to disclosures about UFOs at the present time and that the data on the crashed UFO case of 1962 "is not releasable to the public until certain conditions are brought about by Presidential announcements."

Then came the hair-raiser. The letter stipulated that since I had received unauthorized information, "the Director hereby requests your presence at CIA Headquarters, Langley, Virginia at 9:00 a.m. on the 8th of July, 1977."

I was now scheduled for a debriefing session on the crashed UFO information and as a result, would be placed under a CIA restriction "not to disclose any of this information" until I had received proper legal clearance.

Total silence on my part was requested as it relates to the CIA letter I had received since the communication to me was "considered a confidential matter between the Director" and yours truly. I was further told to make no telephone calls to the CIA "or to any other parties regarding the matters discussed herein. This matter will not be discussed by phone!" The CIA letter was signed as follows: "For the Director, Arnold B. White, Chief, Domestic Collection Division."

On July 7, 1977, the day before my scheduled meeting with the Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, who at that time was Stanfield Turner, a second letter was received from someone using a code name. It said in part that the original letter had not been authorized by the CIA and that I was not to fear. Now it was time for action.

I immediately called the Central Intelligence Agency and spoke with Elliot Rice of the Security Division and related all the data contained in both letters.

Mr. Rice informed me he would look into the matter and if I was scheduled to appear the following day, he would immediately telephone me. That was the last I ever heard from him. Before our conversation ended, he told me the information would be turned over to others within the Security Division and perhaps I would hear directly from them and perhaps not. That was on July 7, 1977.

Nearly one year later, on the 17th of April, 1978, I sent a letter to the CIA requesting any findings of the investigation into the original CIA letter.

After some time had passed, I finally received, a correspondence informing me, what I already knew, that such a letter was not the action of the CIA and if I ever received another such letter that I should contact them immediately. What for? It certainly didn't do any good to contact them in the first place!

In the meantime a question. Was the CIA letter a complete hoax and sent by someone not affiliated with, at least at that time, with any intelligence branch of the United States government, or was it a scare tactic to keep the crashed UFO data from being used by the motion picture firm?

In a letter to me, dated July 18, 1977 from the law firm representing the film corporation in the western

United States, I was told to stop all my work "on the assembly of UFO related material." The attorney's letter stated the following: "Furthermore, due in part to the difficulties (the film company) has encountered in obtaining the proper legal clearance of UFO material of this nature, the organization has been unable to meet its original production and distribution schedule for a UFO picture, and therefore has abandoned this project altogether."

It is very interesting to bring out at this point that the second film company who was involved in the same type of production, also stopped their work on their film and as a result, neither company completed their original undertaking of releasing a non-fiction motion picture film on crashed UFOs in the United States and the suppression of such cases by the government from the public.

UNSETTLING DISCLOSURES

Reflecting back to the CIA letter and the statement that crashed UFO information "is not releasable to the public until certain conditions are brought about by Presidential announcements," another factor surfaces to make this "cloak-and-dagger" case all the more convincing.

In the April 18, 1977 edition of U.S. News and World Report, an interesting comment was made in the "Washington Whispers" column which said that "Official word" was coming on UFOs before the end of the year. This official word was to have involved "unsettling disclosures" on UFOs and "such revelations, based on information from the CIA; would be a reversal of official policy that in the past has downgraded UFO incidents." This official announcement by the government, according to the article could possibly come from "the President." This is most interesting since my CIA letter implicated the President directly.

And what about this Arnold B. White who allegedly headed up the Domestic Collection Division of the Central Intelligence Agency? Does such a person and division actually exist?

A personal friend of mine, also a UFO researcher, investigator, was aware of my CIA letter.

Making contact with a gentleman formerly with the National Security Agency, my friend asked if he knew a "Mr. White with the CIA"...and that's as far as he got.

The former NASA man interrupted by saying: "Oh...you mean Arnold White? He's head of the Domestic Collection Division of the CIA." Not only that, but Arnold White was involved in the UFO phenomenon with the CIA as far back as 1967.

CLOAK-AND-DAGGER

With this important disclosure, I bring to a close this facet of the Ninth Annual Mutual UFO Network Symposium, during its two day schedule on July 29, and 30th, 1978.

The location was the Dayton Convention Center, just a few miles from the famous Hangar 18 located at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio. It is here that the remains of alien beings are believed to have been stored.

MUFON had scheduled a number of speakers for the event including Leonard H. Stringfield of Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. Stringfield was formerly affiliated with the United States Air Force Intelligence and in civilian life, a highly respected UFO researcher since the early 1950's.

His speech at the conference was to deal with "Retrievals of the Third Kind," a case study of alleged UFO crashes and alien cadavers in the custody of the military. Little did he realize that while he would be lecturing, a threat upon his life would be made.

Mr. Stringfield is a personal friend of mine and over a number of months, we indulged in numerous telephone conversations. Some of our discussions involved cases of crashed UFOs and as well as my involvement with the CIA.

Being quite interested in the overall situation of the CIA letter I had received, be it reality or a hoax, Len invited me to share a portion of his allotted time on the speakers platform to relate the incident since directly involved was the 1962 crashed UFO case of New Mexico.

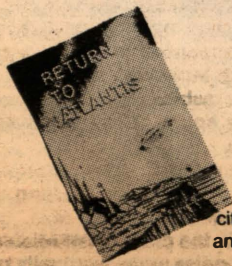

Because of the sensitivity of our subjects, I made the decision to contact one of my main sources of whom I shall refer to as "Mr. Q." This man was affiliated with the United States Air Force in the early 1950's and eventually became affiliated on a full-time basis with the Central Intelligence Agency. His investigations into the UFO phenomenon for the CIA over a number of years covered many aspects, including crashed saucers.

During a telephone conversation with him during the first week of

THE RISE AND FALL OF ATLANTIS

Return to Atlantis

This remarkable book is a story in epic proportions incomparable in the literature of Atlantis and unique in itself! It is a biographical history of the rise and fall of Atlantis based upon information received "mentally" from the Greek historian Herodotus.

RETURN TO ATLANTIS takes you on a magnificent guided tour of the Atlantean cities, homes and countryside. Read the vivid descriptions of the Atlanteans' scientific and cultural development, taught to them by their Teachers, the LIGHTED ONES from the higher Spiritual Worlds. Man's progression is narrated in a commentary by Herodotus, concluding with a prognosis for the future.

UNRAVELING THE MYSTERY OF MAN

Do you possess inner powers as yet unused?
Do unseen powers influence your life?
Is your life the success you had hoped for?
Are there other worlds about you?
Can you part the veil to higher worlds?
Can you intuitively tune in to inspiration?
Where did you come from and where will you go from here?
Have you lived before?
Are you afraid to die?
Do the dead ever contact the living?
Is it possible for living man to become immortal?

Astara has the answers to these and many more of life's enigmas, gleaned from many sources including the world's great Scriptures, ancient Mystery Schools and their modern counterparts.

DID ALIENS TAKE AMELIA EARHART AWAY?

THE WORLD FAMOUS FLIER VANISHED IN 1937
AND THE MYSTERY OF HER DISAPPEARANCE HAS NEVER BEEN SOLVED. MORE THAN TWO DECADES
LATER A PUZZLING UFO ABDUCTION THREATENS TO ADD CLUES TO THIS BIZARRE ENIGMA.

BY BUD HOOPER — A PERSONAL TESTIMONY
SUBMITTED BY THE UFO HOTLINE OF COLORADO

Amelia Earhart's round-the-world flight and disappearance in 1937 was of enormous worldwide interest. It is again of interest in 1981.

I have prepared this document after reading several articles appearing in recent newspapers and magazines relative to mysterious plane disappearances which baffle experts. I also have an article before me: BARBARA WALTERS' HISTORICAL CHOICES. — There are five choices listed, her third choice was to have been in a reporting capacity covering the last hours of Amelia Earhart who disappeared on that fateful day, July 2, 1937, quote, "Because I would like to finally uncover the mystery of her disappearance."

To refresh your memory, Amelia and Fred Noonan took off from Lee, New Guinea on the 2nd of July, 1937. On that quiet news day, one of the most fascinating news stories took place. "AMELIA EARHART DISAPPEARS! — AMELIA'S PLANE VANISHES!"

For the next month, the search for Amelia and Fred was the largest and most expensive in history. No clues were found; a mystery was born in millions of minds. I think I know where she is — you may also when you have finished reading this document.

My name is R.B. (Bud) Hooper and I have been a newsreel cameraman since 1924. I've seen a lot of unusual events that took place in the news field as the years rolled by and during this time several situations relative to UFOs took place. However, the Earhart story in 1937 and two events that happened the same day in 1959 are the basis of this document. It was the month of August that I experienced the most unbelievable and mysterious two events of my life.

I was making motion pictures in Southern Colorado with one of my associates named Guy. As I was driving east on U.S. Highway 160, between Alamosa and Fort Garland, Guy was looking to the south as quite often one could see a mirage, usually a lake reflecting a town or farm in the sky.

We were following a dark colored car that was about a half mile ahead. The highway was absolutely straight and perfectly flat with no ups or downs. This is a flat country and for fourteen miles there are no turns.

All of a sudden I said to Guy, "How long have I been driving on the left side of the highway?" Guy replied that he hadn't noticed my driving and asked, "Did you doze off?"

I replied that I was wide awake and moved the car back into the right lane.

At this instant, the first of two mysterious events occurred. The car ahead had disappeared! The only turn-offs were a few dirt roads and if a car had turned on any of these roads there would have been a cloud of dust. I came to a stop, turned around and drove back a mile or so to see if there was any chance the car was in a ditch. There was no sign of him so we turned back and continued to the town of Blanca.

Up to this time there had been no cars which had passed us from the east and no cars had overtaken us from behind. In Blanca, under some trees near the curb was a lemonade stand. Several mothers were assisting their children in their enterprise. Guy and I got out of the car and ordered two lemonades. While we were enjoying our drink, we asked the women if they had seen a dark colored car drive by. The answer was no. One woman remarked that traffic was slow that day and not very good for this important business.

After our refreshing drink, we drove on south from Blanca and spent the rest of the afternoon making movies of huge cauliflower fields and harvest scenes. I needed some irrigation scenes showing Mt. Blanca in the background but the sun was at the wrong angle so I told Guy we would go to Fort Garland and stay overnight.

After cleaning up, Guy came over to my room and we went down to a restaurant and had a large dinner. Later we took a walk and Guy complained of eating too much. We went back to his room and I told him I might drive down the road and look for a spot to take a sunset scene as the San Luis Valley is noted for its beautiful sunsets.

Two or three miles west of town was a large, open area on the north side of the highway. I turned onto an old dirt road and drove in about half a mile to find a place near a couple of cactus which could form a silhouette against the sunset. I set up the camera to get the formation, went back to the car and sat on the passenger side. I estimated it would be fifteen to twenty minutes before the sun would be in the right cloud formation.

I started to turn on the radio when I felt a peculiar sensation. I must have passed out or went to sleep. The next thing I remember, I was standing in a large transparent cylinder about seven or eight feet high and four to five feet wide. The first thing I noticed was that I was in a large room which looked to be about fifty feet across, looking straight ahead. To my left and several feet from the floor was a large round construction about six feet high and forty feet in diameter. It did not look like metal or wood but was made of some light colored material that seemed to be transparent, yet I could see that it was dark inside.

To my right were two objects, six feet tall which were moving toward me. They appeared to be men in armor which seemed to be made of the same material as the round construction. They stopped slightly to my right and straight ahead of me a third man was in the approximate center of the round construction. He was seated in front of what seemed to be a panel. I noticed that these men had arms and legs. On the end of each arm was a highly polished and slightly curved disc about three inches in diameter. Where the eyes would normally have been were highly polished discs which looked like mirrors, four inches across. Time consumed in this examination was not over two or three minutes.

Now I had a feeling that they wanted me to convey to them what I wanted to know — not by voice but by transfer of thought or telepathy. My question was obvious, "Where am I?"

The nearest armored man pointed over to the round enclosure and conveyed to me that I was in a space vehicle or satellite from outer space. At this point, the cylinder I was in made a short turn, raised above my head and I received a command, "Come with us."

They led me to the man sitting in front of the panel which contained what looked like many round shiny discs similar to those on the end of their arms and were actuated by these magnetic discs.

The man which I identified as the pilot explained to me that in the round enclosure was a huge wheel which revolved faster than the speed of light. Above the panel of the small discs were two larger discs that had slots behind them, allowing one to move back and forth, the other up and down. The pilot raised his arm to one of the larger discs and I felt a sensation dropping for just a second or two and the huge round housing became a very bright light with a pale blue tint to it.

The pilot explained that now the wheel inside was turning at the exact speed of light and that is what the earth people see when watching a "flying saucer." The pilot further explained that the various colored lights that the earth people describe as they watch a flying saucer is caused by the variation of the atmosphere between the viewer and the speed and height of the satellite. The pilot raised his arm again to the large control and I sensed a feeling of rising for a second or so and the light went out.

The pilot then explained that the wheel was now turning faster than the speed of light and therefore the earth people cannot see this space vehicle even though we are only a short distance above the ground.

To explain this invisibility, I was reminded that people on this earth can only hear to so many thousand cycles per second, the eye can only see the same way or not beyond the speed of light. When the wheel speeds beyond this point, the entire craft, including its outer shell, vibrates faster than the eye can see, therefore, it is invisible. Being in the craft, I was also vibrating at the same speed making it possible for me to see in the room I was in.

I was led back to the position under the cylinder, the two men were now a little to my left which made the right hand man almost in front of me. He reached over to the wall that was at my right and removed a square plate.

He passed it toward me and I seemed to sense I was to reach out with both hands, palms open. I did so and he dropped it into my hands. It was about a foot square and around three inches thick but it did not seem to weigh anything. The plate was made of the same material that everything else in this satellite was. When I held it up to a light I could see the light as if there was nothing in my hands; when I pointed back to the armored men, it became opaque. It was conveyed to me that until earth people can discover or create a hard material that has very little weight and can be magnetized to attract or repel, the earth people will not be able to travel to an outer galaxy.

I asked, "Are there other space ships nearby?"

The reply was that there were two others but one had returned to our home planet. The reply continued, explaining that there are several sizes and shapes of these rocket satellites, the largest group like the one that had returned have not been seen by the earth people as yet, he continued to explain these large craft are capable of picking up heavy objects such as machinery, automobiles, small boats and even rather large aircraft. All craft to be picked up must have their motive power turned off before contact is made. This is to prevent any damage by moving propellers to the craft. I mentioned the fact that I was following a car this afternoon that seemed to have disappeared.

The spaceman answered my next question, "Yes! Our large satellite did pick up a car today, the man driving evidently had some information that would be useful to us. When the man was transferred from the car he was placed in a large cylinder containing air from the earth. On reaching our home planet, he was transferred to a huge dome city that is occupied by many of this earth's people. There are other domes that contain life from other planets."

"Why was I contacted this way instead of by the larger craft?" I asked curiously.

"We were hovering just a short distance away when you drove up. We did not know that you were the one following that other car this afternoon."

"It was decided to bring you aboard in sort of a trance to learn what reaction you would have when you became normal in the cylinder."

It was conveyed to me that I was one of the few earth people that did not panic, threaten or act strange. "You showed no signs of being the least bit afraid; you showed an interest in wanting to learn about us. We will answer any question you wish to ask us."

The first thing that entered my mind was to ask, "Why didn't you take a blood test, skin samples, stick long needles in me? That is what I read about."

They replied that their home planet has the finest laboratories and have used the earth people there for tests.

Then I was asked why so many earth people require a psychic or some form of hypnosis before they can relate what they have seen. "We cannot understand the many descriptions as to what we look like, some describe us as midgets, green blobs, big horrible looking objects with feelers and horns," they said.

The only solution I could come up with at this time was that most of us on this earth seem to lose their sense of reason when they see any unusual occurrence. I tried to explain that our human mind seems to see what it wants to see, therefore, most of those under hypnosis who witness unusual events, describe not what they saw but what they think they saw or should have seen.

They next conveyed to me that, like earth people, they do not all look alike. "Some of us are medium height, some are tall, and handsome, and some of us not so handsome. But remember one thing and this is the most important lesson you will learn from us. We were all created by the same GOD no matter which outer space planet we live on."

"Our planet, as well as other planets, have advanced many, many times the knowledge of smaller planets, such as this earth."

They went on to say, "Having you as a visitor, we want you to be able to pass along the many, many things you will learn so that your people will understand that we have no desire to capture your earth."

"We would like a landing area in one of your remote areas for a few of our satellites to use as a stopping off place where we could adjust our radios and antennas before we go beyond your sun, seeking other galaxies."

I asked, "Have you made any attempt to contact our people in Washington to arrange a landing place where our men in the Air Force could learn the things you are conveying to me?"

They replied, "The only information we can get from your higher-ups is that there is no such thing as an outer space satellite! Until there is a better understanding, we do not dare land near a city or airport because of your flying aircraft."

"Your earth people that are on our planet are radio and electronic operators and have told us how to build several different transmitters and receivers. We have tried to communicate with many sources and when we identify our location, we are told we are interfering with airline pilots wanting to land and to 'get off the air.'"

They continued telling me, "At present, when we do land, it is in a more or less remote area and generally a farm. We are usually greeted by the farmer waving a pitchfork or shotgun at us. We would like to land, leave our craft and visit with you people. It seems the only progress we can make is through a person that we hope you will be, and tell your people we want to be friendly."

At this time, another armored person entered from my right and from around the panel that was shown to me earlier. The person conveyed to me a question, "Would you like to know how the big wheel is constructed and how it operates?"

I replied that I would but I was not going to ask as I had presumed that it was highly classified.

"Follow me," he said. I was led around the panel to a table with several large drawings on it and also a model of the large wheel enclosure. I was seated at the table and he sat on the opposite side with the model between us.

"Remember," he said, "that all materials used on our man-made satellites are composed of a material that is more durable than any you have on earth and also weigh less than your lightest metals."

He reached over and removed the upper section and explained that I was looking at a miniature of the large round wheel and all the parts that control its operation. "The flat disc is a model of the big wheel that you were told about by the pilot. When the wheel is not turning, it rests on a round cylinder column, five feet across and two feet high from the base of the housing."

"Inside this column is a powerful magnetic material 'S' pole. The exact center of the wheel is a highly magnetized 'N' pole. Extending down from the top of the housing is another cylinder column the same size as the one under the wheel and is also a magnetized 'S' pole. The combination of these two magnetic columns hold the wheel exactly dead center when it is turning."

"Mounted on the outer edge of the wheel are thirty round cylinders, three feet long and two feet in diameter. These cylinders contain a magnetic material 'N' pole. They are not mounted straight out from the wheel but are set at a twelve and a half degree angle to the edge."

The lengthy explanation continued, "Around the outside of the wheel is a three foot safety band made of material that does not effect any attraction or repelling of magnets. Behind this safety band are repelling cylinders containing highly magnetic material, also 'N' pole. They are spaced evenly around the wheel in a fixed position — that is, they do not spin with the wheel. These stationary repelling magnets are mounted on a circular shaft that allows them to move back and forth and up and down by the pilot. The position or angle of the fixed magnets to those on the spinning wheel governs the speed as required by the pilot."

Replacing the upper section of the model, he explained that the housing does not separate as it is absolutely air tight and the entire compartment is in a vacuum when the wheel is turning.

I asked how a workman enters to inspect or make repairs. He replied that on the rear side and on the bottom of the housing there is an opening large enough to admit workmen and any replacement. This opening is sealed by a screw cap that is air tight when locked in place.

I wanted to know how the craft I was in or any other craft keeps in touch with other space vehicles and their home planet. Particularly I wanted to know how the pilot knows what to do. Does he receive instructions from any one?

Reaching over, my host picked up one of the drawings. It showed the entire floor plan of the craft. Then he commanded me to rise and follow him to a partition across from where we were sitting. He opened a large door. In the room beyond was an elaborate electronic and radar panel operated by a fifth armored man. Also in this room were four large bowl type antennas that could be operated in several directions. I was told that the pilot has a direct radio contact with the operator in this radar room. The craft also could be controlled by the home planet if necessary.

We returned to the table; this time he sat next to me. Reaching over, he picked up one of the drawings again of the floor plan of the space craft. He explained that the electric power

THE PLACE ON EARTH UFOS CALL "HOME"

by Diane Tessman

Since 1954 when George Van Tassel first held the Giant Rock Space Convention, California's Mojave Desert has been famous around the world for its UFO sightings and contacts. However, long before that, the exotically beautiful, but naturally hostile desert, had been providing a meeting ground between humankind and space beings!

The Mojave Desert, particularly the Yucca Valley and Joshua Tree areas, seems to go hand in hand with the Mt. Palomar, Mt. Cuyamaca, Elfin Forest area of California which is to the west/southwest of the desert contact area. George Adamski first saw a UFO mothership over his home in Palomar Gardens on October 9, 1946. Palomar Gardens is, of course, near the famous Mt. Palomar Observatory which has figured prominently in several well-documented UFO sightings in recent years.

In August of 1947 (2 months after Kenneth Arnold's famous sighting of nine craft near another mountain, Mt. Ranier), Adamski sighted an entire fleet of saucers which passed over the slopes of Mt. Palomar. From the top of this mighty mountain, one can easily see the desert stretching eastward into what seems to be infinity, and it was in this desert to the east of Mt. Palomar that Adamski had his famous meeting with Orthon of the Space Brothers. The actual location was Desert Center, a remote village in the California desert. Adamski had been "different" from childhood, with a deep reverence for nature and a deep philosophical mind which led him toward cosmic wisdom and universal truths. With the meeting in the remote desert, this special man's life was forever changed and his insights and knowledge are yet a guiding influence in the on-going contact with space beings.

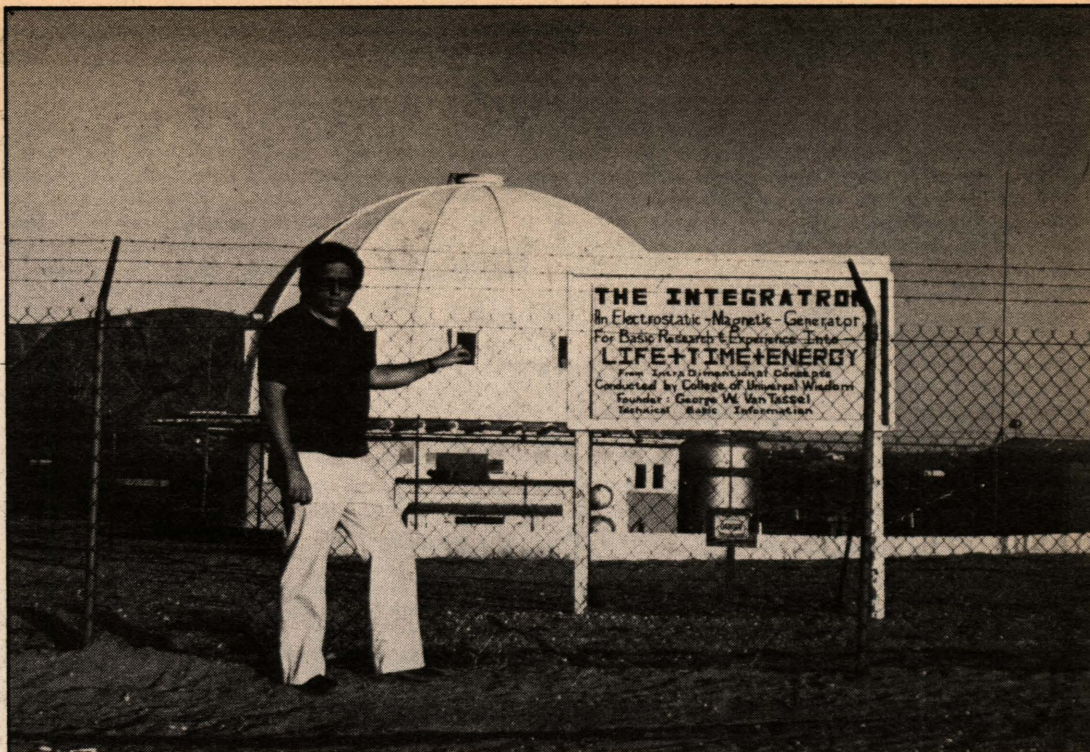

Adamski was the first of several well-known and very wise contactees who seemed almost extraterrestrial in their own right. Curiously, all were based in the same California desert area!

The Integratron, an amazing structure and device, stands today as a tribute to George Van Tassel, operator of the Giant Rock (Mojave Desert) Airport, UFO contactee, and theoretician. George was also very "special," an individualist, a wise man, an inventor, an inspired being. From 1954 to 1970, his Giant Rock Space Conventions were the guiding light and inspiration for many New Age individuals who felt contact (or who wished to feel contact) with space beings. Many encounters actually occurred at these conventions which were wonderful get-togethers where people could talk of events of universal importance without being laughed at, as so often happens in the mundane world. The nights were the best times of all for "skywatchers" and the desert skies seldom failed to light up with passing space craft of unidentified mystery. Van Tassel's best known contact had been with Solgonda, a space being who awakened him as he slept in the desert on a hot evening. And so, it was not he who happened to pick the Giant Rock location but rather, the location which was picked by the space beings to be a special contact center...for a very special man named George Van Tassel.

While Truman Bethuram was laying concrete in the Mojave Desert for a construction company, he experienced an encounter with a female saucer pilot named Aura Raines from the planet Clarion. Even Daniel Fry's contact with space beings occurred near the

Several years ago a mysterious, but attractive, dark-haired woman walked into a New York City radio station and requested that she be allowed to speak with the famous host of an all night talk program. When the receptionist asked the nature of her business, the woman replied that she had come on a "long journey," and that her visit might save the world from destroying itself. Thinking she was some sort of crackpot, the station employee was about to usher the woman to the door when she suddenly felt compelled to push the intercom button to the inner studio. Moments later, the talk show host walked out of his office wanting to know why he had been disturbed.

"This woman has something important to see you about," the receptionist remarked as if in a hypnotic trance, going against all lines of reasoning. "Well, what is it then?" the radio personality demanded, wanting a prompt response so that he could get back to his hectic schedule.

"I've come to the Earth from another planet and I have a great deal of information to pass on to humanity and I know that you can help me because you have a vast audience who will be eager to hear what I have to say."

As it turned out a guest who had been scheduled to appear that Saturday night had to cancel at the last moment and the strange woman who claimed to be from another planet was allowed to fill in. The rest is history. According to the testimony of the late Long John Nebel (whose program aired nightly from midnight to dawn on NBC radio), in the days to come the station received more than ten thousand letters, postcards and telegrams from listeners demanding to know more about the mysterious woman who identified herself only as VIVENUS.

HER STRANGE ARRIVAL

According to the story VIVENUS told, she said she had arrived on Earth in 1960, replacing a young woman her own age—her double—who led a rather tragic life and was contemplating suicide. The "switch" took place in New York's Central Park when VIVENUS's craft (a UFO) lowered her out one side of the ship and beamed aboard the troubled woman through a hatch on the other side of the flying saucer. VIVENUS took over the other girl's life, only this time she had a mission to accomplish—to bring love to the Earth. Over the next two decades, VIVENUS traveled across North America to bring her message to those who were willing to listen. "Every day of my travels was like a miracle," she insists. "People changed before my eyes. Violence dissolved into kindness, hurt into laughter. Fear and confusion washed away to be replaced by love."

For many years publishers tried to get her to tell of her life on a far away world in space. Up till now she refused because she knew they would go out of their way to sensationalize her adventures. It is only now that she has agreed to come forward and reveal information that is destined to shed a ray of sunshine upon all those who read these prophetic words.

VIVENUS admits that there is much to do in the time just ahead. Though she sees the messages as being more important than who she is and where she came from, she now speaks of her past much more willingly. Here are just a few of the topics she discusses in her book VIVENUS: STARCHILD.

LIFE ON VENUS

"The 'things on Venus are not really 'things' as they seem to be on Earth," she states. "We make what we make for the most part with our minds. No sounds of hammers pounding nails. We vision our house, and the house is there. We can envision it being built brick by brick, or we can see it all at once perfect and complete."

"My world is a planet of life—living souls with forms that cannot be seen by the Earth's physical eyes...must not be seen by the planet that would 'claim' it and make it like itself. The Father and His angels protect our world. They form cloud-like vapors over us in those times those on Earth try to probe with their space ships."

"My family and I lived in a house made of clay-like substance in the shape of yellow bricks. My house at home is pale yellow, four windows without glass in them, two doors without locks, no curtains, no roof, no floor. We were not 'poor' but simply in keeping with the 'style' on Venus, why should we shut out the glorious sky with all its changing colors? It will never rain, never snow, never be too cold, never be too windy. The soft, white grass of home cannot ever be covered. It is sacred ground. We wear no shoes, for the touch of our ground is blessed when we are moved to touch it."

DIFFERENCE IN TIME

"I was born on Venus. There was no year," VIVENUS explains. "For only the Earth counts days and measures miles. Perhaps a day on Earth is but a moment in the eternal spheres. I do know that when America was born, I was already in existence because I heard its initial vows. Great moments of light reached our world, and touched our hearts. I do remember being born on Venus several times."

ABUNDANCE FOR ALL

"Venus is seemingly a planet of withouts: We don't have money; we don't have wars; we don't have jobs; we don't have cars; we don't have bombs; we don't have guns; we don't have pain; we don't get lonely; we don't have misunderstanding; we don't have ridicule; we don't have misfortune. We don't have a lot that the Earth has—and there is no lack anywhere."

UFOS KNOWN AS "SWOOPS"

"On my world we call flying saucers by another name—we know them as "swoops," because if you name a thing it is named for what it does rather than how it looks. A spaceship does swoop as a bird swoops. Our swoops come in all sizes, shapes and colors. There are several giant swoops that carry many smaller ones inside, to let them disembark over the lands they must keep vigil. At home, there is a special part of our land to house our swoops. We do not need them on our world, but only for travel to other planets. There are many on Earth who have seen and many who felt pure love from their UFO experience, and that is the way it should be. The swoops in your skies can make themselves visible or invisible. They are piloted by usually two male souls. They have trained their whole life to maneuver these craft. They know how to form clouds around themselves. In flight you feel no motion at all, and yet as you look through the little windows you see the colors of the changing atmosphere and you know you are en route."

SPIRITUAL EXPERIENCE

"I have met the Father," VIVENUS declares, telling of her meeting with the man known as Jesus. "I knelt for the longest time and I felt only quiet. Then He appeared. He is the one known on Earth as the Christ: He is the Father when the Father wants to appear as a form to us; when He wants us to feel strongly His friendship. I did not speak, and He only smiled. It was a smile that caressed my being: 'Lighten the Earth planet with love.' He held a crown in His hand—a crown so gloriously arrayed in jewels of sapphire and rubies and white pearls. His appearance was aglow with ultra love, but I was not the only one to whom He ever appeared. For any on Venus who had need of His presence, ask and He comes."

RESEARCHERS PUZZLED

Many private researchers who have met with this amazing woman admit that they are truly baffled. Gray Barker, author of five books on UFOs and an international investigator of repute has said: "I cannot account for her story. It is totally unique and admittedly difficult to accept on face value. Yet, she tells it with such utter sincerity that one has to believe what she has said."

Bill Cox, editor of the highly respected journal the Pyramid Guide has commented: "There are many people living on Earth now who seemingly have come from elsewhere in our time of need. These 'Walk-ins' have unusual psychic powers and tell stories that are utterly convincing. VIVENUS is one such person."

Timothy G. Beckley, publisher of UFO Review, concludes: "When you look into her eyes you know she is sincere."

FREE VENUSIAN LOVE AMULET FEEL YOUR SPIRITS SOAR THE MINUTE YOU PUT IT ON!

According to mythology, Venus is the planet of love and harmony. Now you can own a beautiful, heavyweight, gold amulet based upon sacred designs given to wisemen centuries ago as printed at the beginning of recorded time in the Cabala. Believed to have been given to the elders by beings referred to in modern literature as THE ANCIENT ASTRONAUTS, such amulets were considered to be powerful tools to attract good. They were said to bring balance to all those who wore them and who believed in their potency. Now you can test these forces yourself and see if they don't make your life more harmonious and attract others to you. The Venusian Love Amulet vibrates with an essence that is plainly "supernatural." This attractive keepsake is being issued at this time to commemorate the visit to our planet of VIVENUS whose story is told in the thrilling new book described in this ad. This amulet (which can be worn or carried in a pocket or used as a keychain) is meant for both men and women and will be a welcome addition to your wardrobe. It cannot be purchased by itself but is given FREE to those who send right away for a copy of this remarkable work.

REACH OUT TO OTHER DIMENSIONS WHEN YOU WEAR YOUR AMAZING "TELECRYSTAL"

Mystics have long believed that crystals could be used as "healing stones." UFO contactees have always worn crystals because they said it enhanced their telepathic ability and enabled them to operate as a more receptive and open channel with the Space Brotherhood. Ashtar, Commander-in-Chief of the Free Federation of Planets has said: "Wear the crystal at all times." Now you can find out for yourself what the crystal can do. In the book PROJECT WORLD EVACUATION by Tuella we are told that all light workers will be given a specially attuned crystal once aboard the evacuation mothership, and that crystals will power all forms of surface and air vehicles in the New Age. The "TELECRYSTAL" is the most powerful of crystals. We have imported a limited supply from Austria and now you can own your own. Comes complete with sturdy silver chain as well as a beautifully channeled message from "Crystal Love" who dwells in another solar system in a place called "Mirrored City."

Crystal, chain and special channeling sent by first class mail for extra protection. Total price $15.00. Send now to: UFO REVIEW, 316 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10001

DATA BEAMED DOWN INTO TINY CRYSTAL
NEW YORK - RCA Corp. said its researchers have developed a method of storing photographs, drawings, maps, statistics and computer data in a tiny crystal smaller than a sugar cube. The system, which is still in the research stage, uses lasers to permanently implant images inside a new specially developed crystal, RCA said. The images are then read out by slowly rotating the crystal in a laser beam. The company said the system theoretically could store a trillion bits of information in a cubic centimetre of the crystal.

Spiritual Masters From Higher Realms Reveal The True Nature Of God & The Cosmos

SPACE GODS SPEAK

TRANSMISSIONS FROM THE SOLAR COUNCIL AND THE ASHTAR COMMAND

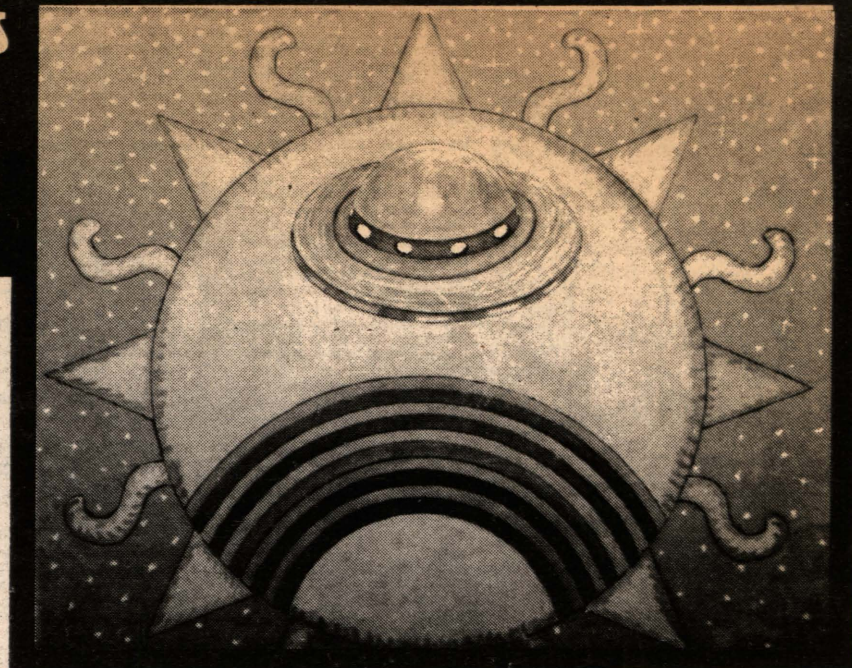

Information in the following books has been beamed to earth by highly evolved beings via an advanced form of mental telepathy or through communications devices unknown to scientists on earth at this time. Much of the material has to do with mankind spiritual development and his relationship to God and the universe, as well as to survival in the "Last Days," which it has been predicted for our planet by many sources.

PSYCHIC & UFO REVELATIONS IN THE LAST DAYS by Timothy Green Beckley

The End Times are upon us, mankind must look to the stars for salvation. As the earth trembles a great cosmic force will arrive and evacuate those who live their lives in peace and brotherhood. The countdown has begun. There are now those living among us who have "blended" with earthly souls to help assist in the trying times ahead. The ultimate disaster could come at any time, but will probably occur by the turn of the century. $2.95.

SPACE GODS SPEAK

Beings from higher realms associated with the planets of this solar system discuss events relevant to the nature of the cosmos and to the future of earth: Saturn planet of peace sends warning; Planet Mercury offers greetings; Invitation from Venus; From Jupiter with joy; Uranus lover of man speaks, and a God from a higher plane of Mars tells of their relationship — past, present and future — with earth. $2.95

HAS OUR NUCLEAR TECHNOLOGY UNLEASHED... THE BEAST OF REVELATIONS

STRANGE MUTANTS

Since 1945, more than 2,000 atomic bombs have been exploded in the earth's atmosphere and in outer space. One result was that by the late 1950's the milk of cows living in the Midwest was so radioactive it was unfit for human consumption. Another result, in the mid-1960's, was a worldwide wave of power failures caused by EMP (Electro-Magnetic Pulse) of the Chinese atomic tests.

During this same period, there was also a bizarre increase in sightings of "strange creatures" all over this planet. Ten-foot tall hairy monsters stomped around an atomic energy plant in Michigan. Dinosaur-like creatures were reported in Italy, France, Texas, Idaho and many other places. Weird winged creatures appeared in several states, and there was even an epidemic of kangaroos from New England to the Mexican border...even though no wild kangaroos are known to exist in North America.

Where were all these odd critters coming from? And where did they go? According to globe trotting journalist John A. Keel, there is compelling evidence that some of them were short-lived mutants created by genetic accidents caused by the radioactivity from all those atom bombs. Pitiful, misshapen creatures poisoned by man's stupidity even before they were born and doomed to lead, short, disoriented lives blundering around our forests.

It is a fact that many weird anomalies of "supernormal" nature have been reported both during daylight hours and in the dead of night. Hairy monsters that reek of sulphur, slithering serpents, flying cats, huge dogs with glowing eyes, are only a few of the other bizarre "things" that have been observed.

The following are just a sample of the many cases which the author has uncovered and which are printed for the first time in his startling book STRANGE MUTANTS:

■ "MOTHMAN" CHASES AUTO AT 90 MPH

A creature with glowing red eyes and a wing span of over twelve feet was a common sight a few years ago in the sky above several towns in rural West Virginia. In one very well documented case, an automobile was chased at 90 miles per hour by this winged being who had police unable to keep up with the many sightings that were being made.

■ SCENT DOGS REFUSE TO FOLLOW "APE MAN"

Near the Anclote River in Florida, a "giant hairy thing" was seen standing in the trees giving off a "rancid putrid odor like stale urine." Scent dogs called in to give chase refused to budge and would only whine when coaxed to follow the foul smelling "ape man."

■ THE "GRINNING MAN" OF ELIZABETH, N.J.

Near the Elizabeth, N.J. entrance to the New Jersey Turnpike, several youths encountered "the biggest man we ever saw." He was nearly seven feet tall, dark complexioned, with little round eyes set far apart. At first he had his back to them, but when they approached, he pivoted around and looked right at the boys, and then he grinned.

■ "SLIME MAN" ACOSTS TEENAGE GIRLS

Two frightened teenage girls from Fontana, Calif. told police that a "bush beast," standing over seven feet tall popped up behind their car shaking his arms in a threatening manner. The girls maintain that the creature had brown hair and was covered in "moss and slime."

■ THE "BOOGER" ESCAPES SHOTGUN POSSE

Residents around Clanton, Alabama tell of seeing a tall, hairy creature near Walnut Creek. The creature has been seen so many times the locals have given it a nickname. On several occasions a shotgun totting posse has given chase, but has never been able to corner the "Booger," as the thing is called.

■ GIANT "CAT" TERRORIZES SENATOR

A quiet suburban town in Connecticut was besieged by a plague of giant "cats" who roamed the streets terrorizing residents. A bus driver narrowly escaped injury when he almost hit one of the large felines and a state senator watched in horror as a huge animal stalked his home.

NOT FOR THE WEAK HEARTED!

■ TWENTY FOOT "PENGUIN" LEAVES TRACKS

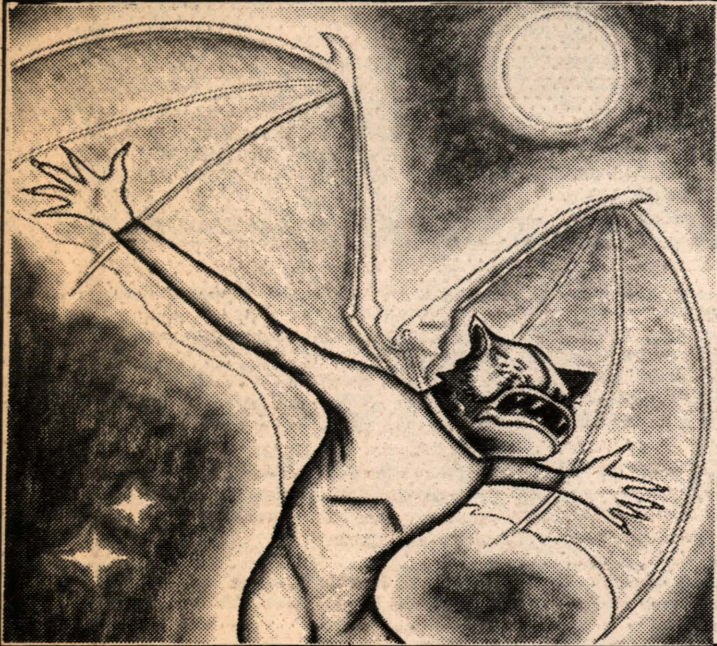

Fisherman discovered on the beaches near Clearwater, Florida, markings left behind by a creature reported to be over twenty feet tall. The "mutant" was seen to waddle around in the marshes and one woman said it resembled a gigantically proportioned "penguin."

■ HALF MAN—HALF HORSE

Police could not prove a Centerville, Illinois man was lying when he claimed that a creature that looked "half-man, half horse," had approached him on a lonely road. Fifty additional reports were received in a period of one week.

In the pages of STRANGE MUTANTS you will also meet some peculiar animals that cannot be easily explained, as well as stories of creatures which spring from the blackness of man's own soul frightening tales of terror experienced by the witness who accidentally crossed that threshold that separates our reality from some alien Twilight Zone. This book tells all about the many creatures from time and space, and from our distorted scientific experimentation...the STRANGE MUTANTS of the Twentieth Century who will obviously be the forerunners of the even stranger mutants that will appear in the decades to come.

UP THE AWARENESS SCALE BY BILL COX

Rozella Roberts is an unusual woman who it seems has been able to capture on film objects in the sky which are not visible to the naked eye. A neighbor—she lives only a couple of miles away in Santa Barbara, Calif.—Rozella has been following the path to enlightenment for many years.

About a decade ago, Rozella met a local psychic who had captured unknown voices on tape. One of the voices told her to start taking pictures of the sky. When the photos came out there were various "weird forms" on them, forms which have been repeated time and time again.

These strange "blobs" have been likened by some researchers to sea anemones. Trevor James Constable in his book "Cosmic Pulse of Life" puts forward the theory that these "space critters" are mostly invisible to the naked eye, but can be photographed on rare occasions by psychically gifted and trained persons who are made aware of their existence. These "critters"—like the one shown on the cover as taken by Rozella Roberts—are just another of the many aspects of the UFO enigma. These "UFOs" suddenly appear and then disappear and the reappear. They are etherialized creatures, or just plain "things" which seem to function at frequencies at and beyond physical considerations just as I described in my book UNSEEN KINGDOMS.

However, Rozella is quick to point out that not all UFOs are ethereal. She too, is in touch with more highly evolved beings including the "Space Brothers" which Tim Beckley and other UFO REVIEW contributors have written so frequently about. In fact, Rozella has her own friendly ET by the name of Cowa who has apparently appeared on some of the photos she's taken in sort of a transparent form. She also holds firm to the belief that these higher beings are working to save this planet from destruction and thinks that more education on this subject is of vital importance. ■ be hairier than normal. They were supposed to have all kinds of abnormal characteristics. They could not speak as we do, yet they communicated among themselves.

I've had two experiences with American Yell, and a couple of experiences with who knows what they were. I was where the lava flows, in a place called "The Hole." It's a natural insert in the ground, which was very unsettled because the lava flow had erupted up around it. "The Hole" has a great geothermal potential. There are springs which bubble all year around. We measured the temperature for one year and there was less than a seven degree variation, from summer to winter.

The area is well traveled by Indians and wild game. The animals seem to congregate there, especially during a cold spell. The does will go there to have their young. It's a natural protection. They can defend it very easily, because there is only one way in, through a crack.

This crack is just wide enough that a horse could walk through it. Once you are in there, you discover that it is a maze of caves.

There have been two anthropologists from the Demer Museum out there. The first one made it until about 10:30. At that point, something came into the camp and drove us out. At first I said, "Don't get away from this fire. If you get away from this light, there's only two people who can protect you and neither one of them walk on earth." He didn't believe me, so he jumped up and went chasing it. My dog had been in there so many times that he quit barking at them. My horse started acting up. Then two minutes later the man was packing up and heading for his jeep.

These creatures are not Bigfoot. Their height is about 3'11", maybe four feet. I've never seen them during the day. I know that they walk on two legs because they are ambidexterous, since they open jars. They just love dill pickles. I even baited a trap with dill pickles. They managed to get the pickles without setting off the trip wires.

I thought I was very skilled at photographing animals at night. I set up a trap with four cameras pointed at this dill pickle jar. I even opened the jar for them, so they could smell it. They still got the dill pickles without tripping the trap so they must have some intelligence.

One moonlit night I did get a picture of an adult female. She must have had more than average curiosity, because she got between me and the moon and I silhouetted it. At first I thought it was a bear, because it was stumbling through the bushes around the hotwell, where I was camping. I was just wondering what was between me and that hotwell, when she walked into the moonlight.

She looked like a female of about fourteen years of age (our size). You could tell that she had breasts. One thing which I could never figure out is that they don't look like they have a neck. I don't know if it's because of the hair or what.

There are a lot of berries and strawberries in this area. They've got wild strawberries up there as big as your thumb. That's what brought me down there. Also there are very few bears. This is very unusual because the country up there is known for its large black and brown bears. The deer and other game are more plentiful in that area, probably because it's impossible to get a vehicle in there. There are a lot of unexplainable trails in there. A lot of domestic animals don't like going back in there. There are some birds in there which I have never seen anywhere else.

I told a wildlife biologist about them and he said that they only exist here in this area. I told him I could show him where they exist at 9,000 feet. I also told him that hawks fly in groups of five and six and that there were five or six different species in that area. He told me that hawks don't fly in community type situations.

The most unusual thing that I've seen there is a Bobcat with no hair on its face. This put the young lady I was with in the hospital in a state of shock. We were horseback riding and we got stranded out there. We ended up in the place called the "hole" because it was starting to get cold that night. I really thought it was a Bobcat, when I saw it running off. She however, described it as a person's face on a Bobcat's body.

It gave her quite a shock, so I took her back to the car. Just as I sat down something jumped on the hood of the car. It turned around and looked at us and sure enough, it was this cat. I instantly went into shock. I locked all the doors and sat there, staring at it for quite a while.

A friend of mine later explained that White Sands is within 150 miles of the area. With the nuclear testing that goes on in the area, there is the possibility of a nuclear freak. I couldn't accept that explanation because I've seen what radiation does to animals. It could cause amorphism but this gross amorphism, I couldn't swear.

I went back to the reservation and spoke with someone who I thought would know. I found Shuntola, the medicine man up in the mountains, as he was coming back from Mexico. All I had to do was describe what I thought I had seen and he told me where I was when I saw it. He told me that I should not go there. He called it questions that could not be answered or answers that have no questions. It is difficult to translate what he said, because he speaks an ancient Zuni language, which is more Zuni than Spanish. Today Zuni is more Spanish than Spanish. He also told me that I should bury forty feathers and thank the gods that I made it out of there.

I went back to the same area about two weeks later, to make sure I wasn't going nuts. Recently, I returned to the "hole" and stayed for two days. I was visited in a way that was different from before. They didn't bother me at all, or tear up my camp, or anything. I could hear them moving around in the bushes. I went swimming in the stream and then came back. Normally, they would have torn up my camp but it was undisturbed. But I found a turquoise turtle sitting in my camp. Before that I used to find tools missing.

I took some pots from that area to the Denver Museum. While I was messing around, I found the bones of a Spanish Conquistador who had passed away up there.

Though I have spent a lot of time in this area the place always intrigues me because of its many unanswered questions. ■

UFO FEVER HEATS UP IN SPAIN

As this issue of the UFO REVIEW goes to press, UFOs are being seen all over Spain. Hundreds of reports of strange objects in the sky have been filed with the authorities. In one of the best documented cases, thirty observers watched as an unknown craft sailed over Malaga, Spain. The hat-shaped device was captured on film (see cover shot) by a teenager who watched the object for several minutes before it disappeared over an apartment complex.

Miraculous Talisman Of The Ancients

New age awakening to age old secret

The ancient astronauts lived extraordinary lives, blessed by serenity, longevity and prosperity. These mysterious people built magnificent structures, such as the Pyramids, which are only now beginning to be faintly understood. They were, without doubt, the master stone masons of all time, and the stone they treasured above all others was the natural clear quartz crystal. These people's phenomenal love of crystal for thousands of years shows up over and over in archeological digs and legends. The great crystal of Atlantis, the crystal skull of the Incas, the crystal ball used since the dawn of mankind, as well as the use of crystal as the ancient's most treasured talisman cause us to wonder—what is the secret of crystal? Can it help us today?

- Our research has found—
- Crystal emits negative ions and absorbs positive ions, clearing the energy field of the wearer.
- Quartz crystal has a refractory index of 1.55. When worn next to the heart chakra, crystal reflects lesser vibrations, causing evil thoughts to be reflected back to sender.
- Crystal stimulates adrenal function.
- Crystal protects the Vagus nerve.
- Crystal takes in only light, protecting your body from dark forces.
- Crystal elevates the level of consciousness of the wearer.
- Crystal intensifies the mind powers of the wearer.

• Crystal balances the magnetic field of the wearer.

• The crystal is the most perfect geometric structure known to man.

We stand on the dawn of a new age. The secrets of ages past are being unearthed to help those whose awareness is developed enough to understand.

Crystal is used today to power watches and computers. Yesterday it was used to make crystal set radios. Tomorrow, in the golden new age, crystal will take its true place to once again bestow upon mankind the powerful, protective aura of the ancients.

As part of a research program, we are offering you a chance to discover the miraculous power of crystal in your life and lives of your loved ones. Each crystal is capped with 24K gold electroplate and will be sent to you for the low price of $12.95 plus $1.25 postage and handling. We ask that you report to us any extraordinary blessings you receive for our research.

Each crystal is natural and unique. You may specify if you wish a smaller or larger size stone. When our limited supply is exhausted, orders will be returned unopened.

U.R.: Tell us, John. What happened to your beard?

JAK: Hal I see this is going to be one of those in-depth, highly personal interviews. I shaved off the beard many years ago...but a lot of pictures were taken of me in the 1960's when I still had it. And those pictures are still appearing in print. So everyone assumes I'm bearded. I'm not. I'm old, fat and balding. People are always disappointed when they meet me. They expect Cary Grant...with a beard. And they get Ernest Borgnine.

U.R.: Back in the 1960's and early 1970's, you were one of the most prominent and most visible ufologists in the world. Then suddenly there was silence. You disappeared. There were rumors that the government had silenced you, or that the notorious Men in Black had gotten to you. What happened?

JAK: I'm afraid the explanation is very mundane. I felt my work with UFOs was finished. I moved on to other things. And, unfortunately, I had some major health problems which curtailed my activities somewhat. I've suffered from hypoglycemia...low blood sugar...all my life, and I had tuberculosis, even appendicitis. Want to hear about my operation?

U.R.: Uhhh...maybe some other time, John. Tell us about how you first became interested in Fortean matters...the weird and the unusual.

JAK: I grew up on a farm outside Buffalo, N.Y. so I was surrounded by all kinds of animals from the beginning. Our neighbor on the next farm used to go out and catch rattlesnakes and sell them. I went with him and that was how I first became interested in reptiles...herpetology. I devoured books by Raymond Ditmars, the great snake authority, and so on.

When I was around ten years old, that would be 1940, people on a back road near our farm began seeing a very tall, haircovered creature. They thought it was a gorilla of some kind. It scared several people badly and the farmers all went out with shotguns to track it down. Of course, they never found it. But that was my introduction to Bigfoot. Nobody knew about Bigfoot then. Ivan Sanderson, the zoologist, wouldn't publish his studies until ten or fifteen years later.

U.R.: So you became a believer in the abominable snowman-type creature at an early age?

JAK: Please. Belief never entered into it. I knew some of the witnesses, I accepted their stories. I accepted the fact that a giant "gorilla" was on the loose.

You know, I also saw my first UFO when I was very young. I was about seven. We were driving outside a little town called Canaseraga, N.Y. one night when we saw a huge, brilliantly illuminated sphere on top of a nearby hill. My stepfather stopped the car and we watched it. At first, we thought it was a barn burning or something. Then it slowly took off, rose straight up a short distance, and shot out of sight. This thing was burned into my memory. I never forgot it. But many years later I asked my parents about it and they had absolutely no memory of the episode whatsoever.

U.R.: That would be in 1937.

JAK: That's right. 1937 was a strange year. There were floods and earthquakes in New York state. And some very weird meteorological phenomena. Years later, when I was sifting old newspapers for UFO reports I came across several. And even back then, back in 1937, the New York Times was explaining away the sightings. Something chased a railroad train across the Midwest and the Times said it was the planet Venus.

U.R.: You're saying it wasn't?

JAK: I'll keep you a secret. The answer doesn't really exist. There never was a planet Venus. The astronomers made it up...just they make up things like Black Holes. Did you ever really think about the Black Hole theory? Since a Black Hole can't give off or reflect light, we will never know if they exist or not. So the theorists are perfectly safe. Their theory can never be proven or disproven. I'm afraid Charles Fort was right. Astronomy is 90% bullshit. Each new generation of astronomers throws out all the beloved theories of the previous generation. Fort suggested that all the stars are actually hanging from strings on a velvet backdrop. He was probably just as accurate as the guys who dreamed up the Black Holes. Or the ones who invented Venus so they would have a convenient explanation for UFOs that chase trains.

U.R.: Do we trace a little note of cynicism here?

JAK: We Forteans are a cynical lot. The anti-UFO factions never quite understood us. We are ten times more skeptical than the so-called professional skeptics, but we are willing to examine the evidence. They aren't.

For example, in my book STRANGE MUTANTS I tell the story of a man who was riding horseback in Ohio when a giant snake suddenly attacked him, bit him in the foot and crippled him. When I did an article on this case, the snake experts told me there was no such snake in Ohio...or anywhere else. But the man's wife happened to see my article and she wrote to me in detail about what he had suffered since. He's crippled to this day. And the symptoms she described and all, are unknown to herpetology! We don't know what kind of snake it was. We'll never know. But we have the evidence...the poor house and the man's foot. If any snake expert wants to interview these people, he could learn a lot. But the experts in any subject are usually most reluctant to investigate anything first hand.

U.R.: Like the college professor who said the people in West Virginia were seeing a Sandhill crane?

JAK: Exactly. Back in the 1960's, hundreds of people saw a huge, winged, human-shaped creature. It chased cars. That college professor never went near West Virginia. I did. And I carried a picture of a Sandhill Crane with me. When I showed it to the witnesses they laughed. No way could they have mistaken an ordinary bird for a six-foot tall monster.

U.R.: That was the famous Mothman?

JAK: Yes. Some newspaperman came up with that name for it. The Batman TV series was very popular at that time. But the Mothman episodes were a major breakthrough in my research. I outline it in STRANGE MUTANTS.

U.R.: What kind of breakthrough?

JAK: I really can't summarize it in an interview. You have to read the book.

U.R.: Suppose I don't want to shell out $9.95 for the book?

JAK: That's tough, then. You'll just have to spend the rest of your life wallowing in ignorance.

U.R.: Actually, we have read the book. You cover a lot of subjects...ten-foot-long earthworms...

This photo of a Bigfoot was taken by the late Roger Peterson and is believed to be authentic.

JAK: They're found in Australia.

U.R.: Vampire bats.

JAK: One of my favorite subjects. Did you know that bats cant land? If one touches the ground it has a helluva time getting airborne again. That's why they land upside down on tree limbs or in caves on rock formations. They hang upside down and when they want to depart they just let themselves drop. This gives them sufficient airspeed to start flying. The Air Force released some bats in a room strung with wires once...and they were able to fly in and out and around the wires with great ease in the dark. They use a kind of radar. That little experiment cost the American taxpayer some big bucks. I once met the Air Force officer who was in charge of it. He could talk about bats for hours. And he did! But my favorite military experiment was something the Navy did a few years back. They spent over $200,000 to find out why a frisbee flies. I think they had some cockamamie notion of attaching a grenade to a frisbee.

U.R.: You seem well informed on government experiments of all kinds.

JAK: I was consulting at H.E.W. when they hired a company to find out why my children fall off the tricycles. They spent $25,000 to rediscover the law of gravity!

U.R.: Do you think the government spends any money on UFOs or Mothmen?

JAK: First of all, the government does not spend money. It throws money away! In the 1950's, General Twining of the Air Force said publicly that the Air Force was then spending one million dollars a year on the UFO "problem." But as near as I could find out, and remember I was investigating from inside the government, no-one in the Air Force...or any other branch...knows anything about UFOs, cares anything about UFOs, and certainly spends no time investigating the subject. In the 1960's, a civilian secretary was in charge of the UFO desk in the Pentagon. She was paid around $7,000 a year to cut out newspaper clippings. When IDA (Institutes of Defense Analysis) decided to hire some university to investigate UFOs, they were turned down by Columbia, M.I.T. and other big, prestigious universities because they weren't offering enough money. Only $300,000. Finally Colorado U. accepted the assignment and I predicted they would get the Air Force to double the grant before they were through. And they did. Everyone knows what happened to that Colorado UFO project. It was a total debacle. Once again the Defense Dept. engaged the U.S. taxpayer in sexual intercourse.

U.R.: You mentioned IDA. What's that?

JAK: Another boondoggle. They have their own building near the Pentagon. They're funded by the National Security Agency. In the 1960's, the UFO mess was turned over to them. They made most of the decisions, not the Air Force. The drones in IDA spend most of their time playing war games with computers.

U.R.: Based on your experiences, does anybody in government do anything?

JAK: In Washington, the rush hour starts at 3 p.m. People arrive at their offices around 9 a.m., drink coffee until 11, then plan where they're going for lunch. They return from lunch around 2:30 and then get ready for the 3 p.m. rush hour. The only people who really work are the peons...the lowest salaried employees. They come to work at about 8 a.m. and leave at 5. They're not even allowed to

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

JOHN A. KEEL THE INDIANA JONAS UNEXPLAINABLE FROM UFOS. LARGE HAIRY MONSTERS CHASED THEM ALL AROUND THE WORLD

IF YOU ENJOYED THIS INTERVIEW WITH JOHN KEEL YOU'LL WANT TO READ HIS BOOK "STRANGE MUTANTS" ADVERTISED ON PAGE 10.

From the upper Nile, to the lower Ganges and the Roof of the World in Virginia and Kentucky, John A. Keel has traveled extensively in his unending quest for the unexplainable. He has been in over 40 countries and has lived in Hollywood, New Orleans and a thousand exotic places in between. For many years he has been a columnist which appeared in major dailies throughout the world and his column has been a leading periodical. His monthly column "Modern Mysteries" was editor and publisher of ANOMALY, a newsletter devoted to scientific investigation of the Unexplained (S.I.T.U.) the editor of the Society's journal, Pursuit.

In the 1950's, Mr. Keel worked for the Department of the Army as American Forces Network (AFN) in Frankfurt, Germany...the world's largest radio program, Things in the Sky, about unidentified flying objects in Europe and very favorably received. He also wrote and produced broadcasts in Germany, and from the Great Pyramid of Giza in Egypt.

An accomplished lexicographer, he has been science editor of Funk & Wagnalls College Dictionary. It was Mr. Keel who introduced the words "flying saucers" into the dictionary and thus into form.

Born March 25, 1930, his autobiography, Jadoo (Hindi word for "magic") years old. He has published eleven other books since and two more, Strange Mutants, 1984.

Mr. Keel has also been active in television, serving as head writer of Lewis, Gene Rayburn and others. He was employed by Goodson & Todman as head writer for station WPIX in New York. Author of several screenplays, Trans-Lux and has worked on numerous television situation comedies published in 1966, sold 800,000 copies.

In the early 1970's, Mr. Keel became a special consultant to the Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Bureau of Radiological Research. He still does consulting work occasionally.

A regular on many radio and television talk shows, Mr. Keel has appeared on Downs, David Letterman, Long John Nebel, Barry Farber and many others. He has received two honorary Ph.D.s for his work in herpetology and archaeology. For example, he once wrote a column for U.S. Camera magazine on Sound filmmaking. As a psychologist and parapsychologist, he has an interest in the occult and has translated and published in over twenty foreign countries. Among many other things, he is an ingenious magic tricks and an outstanding commentator on the psychology of religion. He has been labeled "the world's greatest theologian" and his books are widely read. In Europe, he has been the subject of much controversy and many books have been written about him. His most popular book The Dark Gods by the British authors Anthony Robert and John A. Keel is a private pilot and divides his time between Woodstock, New York and his home in Kentucky.

make private phone calls. They work in jobs like payroll, or running other benefits and services for the other employees. If an outsider...a taxpayer...shows up asking for some service, they are thrown into total confusion. When I was at H.E.W. they had 105,000 people on the payroll, most of them doing nothing. They were trying to cut back then. Today they have 150,000 on the payroll, doing even less. Ronnie Reagan promised to cut back...so I suppose in a year or two there will be 200,000 doing nothing.

U.R.: Washington, D.C. is certainly a long way from Tibet. Weren't you the last American to enter Tibet before the Chinese invaded?

JAK: Yes. That was back in the 1950's. Things are more relaxed in the 1980's and some Americans have been allowed in, in recent years.

U.R.: What was the Tibet like?

JAK: Bleak and cold. Sort of like my New York apartment. I was looking for the famous Abominable Snowman. I did see a tall, furry animal on the other side of a lake and the lamas with me said it was an ABSM. But it could have been a bear.

U.R.: So you never caught up with the Abominable Snowman?

JAK: Or he never caught up with me. I've also chased Bigfoot here in U.S.A. You know, they've been seen only a few miles outside of New York City, in New Jersey. In STRANGE MUTANTS I catalog quite a few sightings and list the characteristics they have in common...like the noises they make, the terrible odors they give off, their general behavior. They're really an unpleasant lot.

U.R.: I see you also have a chapter on something called "Bedroom Invaders." What's that?

JAK: That's a puzzling form of psychic phenomenon. People wake up in the middle of the night and find they are paralyzed...unable to move. They feel...even see...another presence in the room. Sometimes they are sexually assaulted by these entities. I've come across many instances of this in my investigations. In New England, it is known as "the old hag." For some reason, many UFO witnesses, contacts in particular, suffer visitations of this sort after a UFO episode. It is one of the many factors that suggest there is a very close tie in between UFO manifestations and psychic phenomena.

U.R.: You were a pioneer in observing that tie-in. Now, today, people like Dr. Berthold Schwartz, the famous psychiatrist, Dr. Jacques Vallee and even Dr. J. Allen Hynek, seem to have jumped onto your bandwagon.

JAK: That's right. When I first expressed my views in books like Operation Trojan Horse and Our Haunted Planet, I was met with quite a bit of opposition. Then investigators around the world began to use my methods and check out my material. Now all of the leaders in the field agree that psychic phenomena are closely linked with UFOs and that even some of our mysterious monsters are products of that psychic world. But for years, people like Hynek and Vallee fought my concepts.

U.R.: So you've triumphed in the end. How does it feel?

JAK: It's a hollow victory. We have just opened Pandora's box. Instead of solving the mystery, we've created many new ones.

U.R.: How do the notorious Men in Black fit into all this? Do you think they really exist?

JAK: In the beginning, I thought the M.I.B. were just folklore...an ufological legend. Then I began encountering witnesses who had direct experiences with mystery men of all kinds. Men who couldn't possibly have been connected with the government or Air Force...although they sometimes claimed to be. Others, such as Dr. Schwarz, uncovered M.I.B. cases independently. Obviously there is more to this than anyone previously suspected. In STRANGE MUTANTS I give the details of a number of baffling M.I.B. cases. It has always been my hope that one day we could actually corner one of these guys and get him to talk. Might torture him a little, like forcing him to listen to a Jim Moseley lecture or something.

U.R.: That should make anyone talk!

JAK: Seriously, though...I've always considered the M.I.B. phenomenon to be one of the most important, least investigated and least understood aspects of this whole business. They are very real. They have a habit of turning up in the damndest places at the damndest times. They are definitely tied into the UFO mystery itself. But believers in extraterrestrial visitants have a hard time reconciling their beliefs with the presence of seemingly ordinary human beings in black suits who ride around ordinary motor vehicles. Strangely enough, the professional skeptics have an even tougher time with the idea. Apparently they can't accept the notion of ordinary people in black Cadillacs either. So the M.I.B. are able to carry out their mysterious missions largely unnoticed and certainly unhindered. They've got the perfect cover. Disbelief!

U.R.: It certainly looks that way. Tell us, where did you get the title STRANGE MUTANTS?

JAK: Well, I was thinking. Although UFOs and monsters have been seen throughout history, things really picked up after 1945...after the introduction of the atomic bomb. Few people realize that over 2,000 atom bombs have been set off in the earth's atmosphere. The radioactive fallout has been horrendous, approaching the very dangerous level several times in recent years. Then there's those miserable atomic power plants. They are a terrible danger, too. At hearings in Washington a few years ago, scientists and doctors attributed the deaths of 2,000 infants in the state of Michigan directly to the presence of the atomic power plants. They had overwhelming evidence. Yet the madness goes on.

John Fuller, an author well-known in ufology, wrote a book about a nuclear accident that took place in Michigan. It was called We Almost Lost Detroit. What he skimmed over was the fact that tall, hairy monsters were seen in the immediate vicinity of the Enrico Fermi Plant in Michigan just before it went blooey! Monsters have an uncanny habit of showing up around all these plants. It is quite possible, even quite probable, that many of the critters I have investigated and written about are, indeed, mutants...weird mutations of more ordinary animals produced by the radioactivity we are spreading over the world in our totally illogical, irresponsible fascination with genocide. In short, we have met the enemy and he is us.

U.R.: On that note...What's next for John A. Keel?

JAK: You haven't heard the last of me. There are still a lot of mysteries out there and there are more books to write. We are all on the threshold of a New Age now and the greatest adventure of all lies ahead of us.

until the following afternoon when another of the kids told us that he had seen a man standing in the woods in back of the house and that they were told to go inside and not to play there.

Naturally, I was worried about any strangers who might be wandering about where young children are concerned, and so I tried to get more information about the man, but all J.R. would say was, "No more picnic, all finished, all gone." Later, we gathered all three children together and asked them to show us where the man had been. They all pointed to the same spot over by the garden where the fence is that the dog almost caught himself on.

Interestingly enough, in the summer there is no way that anyone can get back there because the bushes are so thick and nobody trims them. Quite a few times, the dogs have barked and the kids have come in and said they saw the man. We would run outside and wouldn't see anyone. The kids described him as wearing a suit, jacket and a pair of pants. Sometimes they said there were two men.

Shortly thereafter, it would feel like someone would come into the bedroom at night and would push against the bottom of my mattress. Sometimes I would be overcome by the feeling that I wasn't alone, although nobody was physically in the room with me. One time, I was lying on my left side facing the wall and I felt a poke like someone's finger jabbing into my shoulder.

The business with the mattress happened almost every night. In addition, a photograph of my youngest son, aged two, kept falling from the wall. This happened so frequently that finally I decided to leave it down where it couldn't break.

One night, I got bumped on the mattress, and I thought that someone was trying to speak to me. I sat up in bed and said, "What, what did you say?" I was able to hear the sound of someone talking but was unable to distinguish any words. I put the light on and my husband who was in the next room on the couch shouted in to me, "What do you want, what's the matter?" I asked, "What did you say? Did you call me?" He said he hadn't.

Later, when my daughter arrived home, I told her about the voices and she said she'd heard them a few times as well. Actually, she seemed truly petrified. It seems that they had been bothering her for a while, but she was afraid to mention it to anyone for fear we would all think she was crazy.

At times, she said the voices would call her by name, but even though I was in her company when this happened, I could never hear anything.

Despite these intrusions in our life, I never did get the impression that we were dealing with anything that was particularly harmful. If I had felt that way I would have really been upset since there were so many youngsters in the household.

Things really got out of hand the day before Labor Day. Everybody had gone out to see the fireworks display on by our neighborhood carnival and I was sitting around the kitchen getting the food ready for the next day when I heard a sound coming from the basement. It was the sound of someone walking across a board that had been placed at the bottom of the stairs to cover an open sewer pipe. When you step on it, it makes a little plunking sound, and someone was going back and forth across it repeatedly and it was driving me crazy.

Not wanting to get hysterical and tried to bush the matter aside. I kind of laughed and thought, "Oh, I've got company." It was like a feeling of not being alone. Now and then, I got a little upset because it plunked a little too loud. I would go to stand out on the porch for a little while just to clear my head and then go back into the house.

I had a loaf of bread on top of a cabinet in the kitchen and it started falling off. At first, I thought maybe it had just slipped off, but I knew this wasn't the case when it happened four or five times.

When the family got back from the fireworks display, I told them what had happened and that I had this strange feeling that I wasn't alone. When I explained what had happened to the boards, my daughter replied they had been hearing that all day long, but didn't want to say anything about it. Her husband and my oldest son also heard it. My daughter's husband even got up a couple of times to see if it was the kids fooling around and there was nobody there. He said, "It would sound just like someone was walking around down there and then when you went to look, you couldn't find anything."

After my daughter and her friend Linda left, I just sat in the kitchen working on some stuff and the bread fell again. I said, "O.K. now I'm busy, let's knock it off. I'm getting tired of picking the bread up." I didn't realize that one of my sons was in the room at the time. At this point, everything that I had on the shelf—room deodorizer, spray, newspapers, window spray, all came down. I yelled, "Oh, you've got to be nasty. I don't have enough to do. You have to make more work me."

As I put everything back, my son came in the room. He said, "Is there really somebody here? Do you see somebody? What's going on?" I said, "Oh shut up and go to bed." That was all the trouble we experienced that night.

Our "friend" seems to like my air conditioner. One night the dogs were barking out back and there was nothing outside. I shut off the air conditioner in order to go and check on the dogs. When we were below my bedroom window, my husband said, "The air conditioner isn't on." I said, "No, I shut it off so I could hear the dogs better."

So, we were out back of the house trying to figure out what was wrong with Max. He had plenty of water and food. It wasn't that. He wasn't nervous, like he was that other time. He wasn't shaking. The dogs upset about something in the air.

All of a sudden, my husband turned around and said, "What was that?" I asked him, "What's what?" He said, "The air conditioner just went on." Then it went off again. But just as we went by the window, it went on again. There is no way to shut it off and turn it on without pushing the buttons. When I had shut it off, it was on 'Off'. When we went back indoors it was on 'On'.

I said, "Well, thank you whoever you are it is hot in here." My husband said, "I know that thing was off. I know that thing went on and off a couple of times." I said, "I know it's George." He said, "Well, tell your friend to leave. I don't want him hanging around here." I said, "You tell him to leave." We went to bed and there wasn't any more trouble that night.

The next incident was about a month later. It was near the end of August. I was in bed and I had to go to the bathroom. So, I walked out to the living room, where the children were sleeping. There were no lights on. I stopped in the middle of the living room and looked into the kitchen. There was someone standing there. I couldn't see any clothes on him, so I thought it was my daughter's husband. He often walks around in only his shorts. It was very dark so it was difficult to see really well.

I was just getting ready to say, "What the hell are you doing there?" when I thought, "Now, wait a minute, that's not my daughter's husband. How come it's so dark and I can still see him? There's something wrong." I didn't want to take any chances in case it was someone who broke in.

As I backed up to hit the light switch, he started leaving, moving behind the refrigerator. As the light came on, he disappeared right through the wall.

Then I grabbed my flashlight, went into the bedroom, and turned it on my husband. He asked me what was the matter. I said, "There was a man out in the kitchen." He said, "Yeah, let me go get him." I said, "Forget it, he just went through the wall." He said, "What, what are you talking about?"

I had not been scared. I would have been more frightened if it was a human. When I thought about it, I realized it couldn't have been human, because it was like a shadow, I wasn't scared of him because if he wanted to do anything, the two kids were in there. He could have done something to them. He doesn't seem to bother anyone, outside of scaring my poor daughter to death. I don't particularly like it when he comes into the room at night. He has grabbed my foot at times, which I don't like.

Objects in the house have disappeared from time to time. For example, one morning I woke up and I didn't notice anything until I was talking on the phone. I went to rub my rings, which is a habit that I have, and they were gone from my fingers; I found the one which wasn't worth anything on the bed. I could see that one coming off because it's big. On the other hand, I could never get my wedding ring off. I looked all over the house for it. I couldn't get any work done. I paced back and forth and I said, "Look, I thought you were a nice guy. Taking the ring off my hand is not very nice. That's stealing."

I had just about given up when I went into the living room to straighten up. There I found the ring, on the floor, by the door. This was strange because I had looked all over the house. It could easily have been seen there. Also, it's just not possible to get the ring off my finger. This really bothered me, that "he" could come into the room and had taken this ring, which is impossible to remove, without my knowing about it.

Around this same time, our neighbor who has a small trucking company next door, started to complain to us that on several occasions he had heard someone fooling around back of his place in the woods. He was so paranoid that they might be trying to steal some of his valuable equipment and goods, that he took to staying up at night to protect his property. He would sleep out back in a little shed with a shotgun in hand, and though he often heard someone poking around he never saw a soul. He had some boards set up behind his house and at night he would hear footsteps, but he'd never catch a glimpse of anyone upon turning on the outdoor light. He told us that he'd heard sounds coming from the woods and even saw the bushes move. He said he's going to blow their damn fool heads off when he catches whoever is causing the disturbances.

There was another incident where one of my sons was lying on the living room floor and someone booted him smack in the behind.

He gave out a loud yelp and before I knew it he was knocking on my door wanting to know if he could crash in my room since he was afraid to stay by himself.

That same night the air conditioner started going on and off by itself. I turned my flashlight on and I could see that the button had been turned off. I pushed it back on and said, "Knock it off." We knew that there was someone by the window, even though we couldn't see anyone. The pushing of the air conditioner button went on forever it seemed. My husband thought it was dangerous to keep the air conditioner plugged in. "Shut it off, it must have a short in it," he kept saying, but he couldn't explain how the buttons would move in and out by themselves.

Finally, I unplugged the air conditioner, but it plugged itself back into the wall socket and stayed on the rest of the night. Next, we heard a strange rustling sound by the window to which I said, "Please, don't turn the air conditioner off again, it's really warm in here." In response, the curtain on the window fell. With that, I got my pillows and blankets and brought them out into the living room.

My twenty year old son thought I'd really gone off the deep end and he said he was going to prove it was all my imagination playing tricks on me. I waited to see how long he would last in the bedroom. My son got really scared when he felt the presence of someone looking at him in the dark, and it was really all over for him when the shade went flying up. He ran out of the room his face as white as snow.

With that, I went back into the room and said, "In the name of God I ask you to leave." The air conditioner went off and on again and after that we didn't have any more trouble that night.

Another time, two of the kids said they had seen two men — a short one and a tall one — standing on the roof of the house and that they had coveralls on and that when they unzipped them they had some sort of strange suit on underneath their outerwear. I was in the living room later and I felt someone standing near me and heard the sound of a zipper being pulled up and down.

Still, at other times, I saw weird white-blue lights in my bedroom at night which were not reflections from the street. The whole house was being turned upside down. Things were missing that would show up in unpredictable places, there would be eerie sounds and a creepy feeling as if we were never alone.

The second Sunday in October, at about 5 A.M., I was lying in bed and I heard what sounded like a motor running. I woke my husband up and he mumbled something about someone trying to steal his truck. He jumped up and flew outside while I looked for my slippers. I was still looking for them, when he came running back, slamming the door and bolting the latch behind him.

"What did you see?" I asked him. "Never mind. It's nothing. Let's forget it and go back to bed."

Even the next day, my husband wouldn't talk about it. All that I could get out of him was, "The last time, I told you I saw something, you said I was nuts. So I'm nuts."

He was referring to an incident that happened the previous year when he saw a UFO above the trees across the street. It was about the same time early in the morning and I had poked a bit of fun at him for seeing things.

After this incident, things quieted down in the house and eventually returned to normal. I've talked about this experience to Tim Beckley the publisher of UFO REVIEW and he says there have been other cases where invisible entities have come into a person's house and made themselves right at home. Normally, I might have thought that our experience had something to do with a ghost, but when you put two and two together — the kids seeing the man in the woods, the odd lights in my room — it becomes clear that something more unusual is at work here.

My feeling is that whoever was inside the object that hovered across the street from our home over a year ago left one of their companions behind just like in the movie ET, and then came and picked him up a year later. It would seem that these beings either live on another dimension and thus we can't normally see them — perhaps only as shadowy forms — or maybe then can make themselves invisible. In any case, I do believe that ET resided with us, but now he is on his way back home. ■

SILENCERS RETURN!

July, 1978, (just a few weeks before from the Dayton symposium), I was informed the intelligence unit was considering sending him to the symposium, but decided against it when a news release went nation wide relative to the topic categories of Mr. Stringfield and yours truly.

As the discussion between intelligence and "Mr. Q." continued they said nothing of the CIA letter I had received with the exception of confirming they were aware of it.

It seems it was Leonard Stringfield they were concerned about due to his promise to talk about the 22 abstracts involving crashed UFOs and humanoid bodies recovered. It seems that 80% of his information was accurate and this was based on one-to-one contacts Len previously had with those directly involved in retrieval operations of crashed space craft.

On the 22nd of July, 1978 I was again in communication with "Mr. Q." regarding the upcoming UFO symposium in Dayton, Ohio. It was at this time I was told both Len and I must proceed cautiously from this point on and stay with the data we had planned to present and do not deviate. He went so far as to suggest that my wife Lucy, and I should have a gun in our possession while in Dayton. Taken back by this, I casually chuckled somewhat and told him we do not own a gun. He then suggested we take a spray gun with us for our own protection. This would indicate something sinister was supposed to happen during the symposium but he would not elaborate.

"Mr. Q." did inform me that one of the main concerns was the reaction of foreign diplomats, with the Soviet Union and West Germany specifically mentioned. It was also known in advance that two foreign agents planned to attend the meetings. In addition, there would also be representatives there from Air Force Intelligence at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base as well as six CIA agents. Their purpose in covering the overall series of meetings was to see who knew what about the UFO phenomenon.

STRINGFIELD
CAUTIONED

As early as May 15, 1978, Leonard Stringfield, in a telephone conversation with a former affiliate of the National Security Agency, was told to "be careful on that topic" of crashed UFOs and retrievals. Len was further told to "watch for those big black Cadillacs," an obvious reference to the Men-in-Black.

A somewhat stern statement was then made when his informant said the following: "Watch your step, Len. I can't talk over the phone with you about it."

Len told his informant that he still planned to go through with his talk. In closing the conversation, his informant, in sort of a kidding fashion, said: "Nice knowing you, Len."

My wife and I arrived in Dayton, Ohio the night before the scheduled July 29th meeting. We enjoyed a nice dinner and retired for the evening to our room...with a spray gun in our possession.

Then came the day. Lucy and I had breakfast with Mr. Stringfield prior to our 10:40 a.m. scheduled appearance at the MUFON symposium at the Dayton Convention Center.

Little did the three of us realize that before the morning was finished, two threats would be placed against the life of Leonard Stringfield.

Threat number one was received at 4:30 a.m. by the host of the MUFON symposium, a Mr. Vale, member of the Ohio UFO Investigators League. At this point (breakfast), neither Len Stringfield, my wife, or yours truly were aware of this threat.

It's 9:00 a.m. The symposium began with the first scheduled speaker being Mr. Richard H. Hall, editor of the MUFON UFO Journal. Relatively close to the scheduled time of 10:40 a.m. Mr. Stringfield was introduced and following a very fine applause, Len, with papers in hand, walked to the speakers platform and prepared to deliver his 22 abstracts on crashed UFOs that was said to be "80% accurate."

Since I was to share a portion of Mr. Stringfield's allotted time at his request, I was seated on the stage next to a lady affiliated with the symposium. About thirty minutes into Len's lecture a symposium official approached the speakers platform and delivered an important message to the woman.

Only a few moments before, this gentleman had come face-to-face with the man who personally delivered threat number two on Len's life. A description was given of the person making the threat. He was in his mid-20's, about 5 feet, 11 inches in height and a body structure like a football player containing a pair of powerful looking shoulders. Clean cut in appearance, he had a normal voice that contained no accent of any kind. After delivering the message, the man quickly disappeared in the crowd and was lost from view.

A plan operation was immediately executed. Security guards were contacted and shortly thereafter detectives from the Dayton Police Department arrived at the scene along with FBI men. The plan was as follows: Immediately upon completion of both of our lectures, security and police personnel would approach the speakers platform and escort us through an exit door at the rear of the hall.

As part of Len's presentation, a few film slides were shown. It was during this time when the lights were dimmed for the showing that I left the platform and motioned for my wife, sitting near the front section, to follow me. I then relayed the plan of operations to her at which time she was to join us immediately and depart with the police guards.

When we were finished everything began in clock-like precision. The approach was immediately made by security police. Plain clothes security guards were placed in front at the side and to the rear of Mr. Stringfield, and the same for my wife and I. The walk began. The crowd was thunderstruck and puzzled as to why we were escorted from the building in this fashion. Armed with holster guns under their suits and walkie-talkie units, we began our exit.

Traveling along the rear outside of the convention center building, we made a left turn and continued our walk enroute to the hotel across the street where a room had been reserved for a news conference with reporters.

We were amazed to see security police all along the route including the rooftops of the convention center and along the planned route to the hotel.

Security men made contact via their portable radio units with other guards along the route keeping each area posted as to where we were at that moment and the area we were approaching. It was unbelievable but it was happening to us and needless to say, we were stunned!

SECURITY CHECK

After arriving safely at the press conference room, we prepared for the arrival of newsmen. Before any reporters were permitted to enter, a

'CROSS OF CRYSTAL'

Cross enlarged to show detail

Dear Reader:

My name is Diane Tessman. You might have seen me on TV or heard me on the radio telling my incredible story. I am an ordained minister and pastor of San Diego's Starlight Mystic Church. Up until just recently my life was pretty much a shambles. Because of the poor economy, I had lost my job as a teacher and found it impossible to get work. Things rapidly turned real sour — my car payments were overdue, my rent was behind, and I even had to get food stamps to feed my daughter.

But now — THANK GOD! — conditions have vastly improved. My luck has turned from bad to good. Suddenly my cup has runneth over and all because of a strange artifact I came across in my garden, which, I believe, was put there by beneficial beings who have helped guide my life and who have only positive thoughts for every peace loving person on this planet.

But let me start at the beginning... All my life, I have felt a closeness with God's universe. My experience is no lie! It has been verified by a University Professor who subjected me to a grueling two hour hypnotic session. He wanted to see if I was telling the truth. He is convinced I am, for I relived events that happened many years ago as if they had only transpired recently.

CHILDHOOD EXPERIENCES

It was a warm summer's night and I was playing with my dog outside. It was after dark and a certain stillness filled the air that I shall never forget. As I looked around with my pet, I noticed a bizarre light a short distance away from where we were.

Without warning, my familiar surroundings were gone and I was in a completely different environment. All around me were these strange beings, some of them human-like, others radically different than any life form I was familiar with.

But there was one particular being who I found myself more attracted to than the others. I especially was not scared of him. The one I conversed with was human and I loved him. I could feel that there was something — a certain bond — between us and to me he has always been my "Special One." Due to the nature of subsequent contacts with these angelic, God-loving beings from another dimension, I feel almost certain that I am only half human, and the other part of me is extraterrestrial. Somehow — and I can't begin to explain this in scientific terms — I believe that the soul of the "Special One" was implanted into me or duplicated into me electronically, and that the "Special One" has been a part of my consciousness ever since I was seven.

SHOCKING REVELATIONS

In recent times my contact with THEM has increased to the point where I have become an accomplished psychic, able to forecast major events before they happen. I have also helped many individuals who feel that they are "different," and that they do not "belong" on this planet. My mission to assist these "Star children" walking amongst us has been a huge success. In addition, I have been doing my best to alert all those who will listen to the coming changes that are slated to take place here on earth culminating in a collapse of civilization and the end of the world as we know it. Nostradamus, Edgar Cayce and other attuned minds have told of catastrophic events which are to take place during our lives, and my friends from another dimension have added to our knowledge of such a monumental transition that is said to be only years away.

Since that night back in Iowa, I have experienced many things that cannot possibly be explained. I have seen and heard what others cannot see or hear. I have had "flashbacks," of previous incarnations. I have heard strange beeps inside and outside my home which emanate from toasters, radios and stereos. Mysterious voices have come over my CB set. I've encountered ghosts, and had a variety of invisible playmates. One of my most frightening experiences has to do with the time I was levitated off my bed and some invisible entities actually tried to pull me through the wall.

HOW THE CRYSTAL CROSS CAME TO ME

Several months ago, I had a series of very frightening prophetic dreams about the "Last Days," which the Bible refers to as "Armageddon." In these nighttime visions, I witnessed entire cities being destroyed and people looking for places to hide. Mother Nature had turned against humankind. There were floods everywhere, and tidal waves swept across the West Coast, while thunder and lightning the likes of which we have never witnessed flashed everywhere. Wars had broken out in many lands, and from my dreams it looked like there was no way out. That is, until fleets of glittering spaceships filled the sky and started taking deserving souls off this planet in a mass evacuation which was being directed by the mighty hands of Jesus Himself.

These "dreams" were so vivid that I would wake up in a cold sweat. And while these prophetic visions always differed slightly, the one element they all contained was the materialization of a huge crystal cross over the heads of the suffering multitudes.

Upon rising one morning, a voice inside my head directed me to walk outside to my garden. There glittering in the early rays of sunlight was a beautiful cross made of crystal, and though it was much smaller, it was very similar in design to the one I had repeatedly seen in my dreams.

Later that day, my "Special One," who often speaks to me, told me that there was great significance in the cross that I had found in my yard. He reminded me that crystals have always been known for their healing and spiritual powers and that eons ago, on the continent of Atlantis, scientists had harnessed the forces of the crystal and a great technology existed because of the positive use of these crystals.

My "Special One," recommended to me that everyone should own a cross for themselves and promised that those who carry such a crystal will experience many positive benefits throughout their life.

ARE YOU IN NEED?

Does your spirit cry out for relief from worldly tensions? If so I believe I can promise you...

- Financial security.
- A loved one to comfort you.
- A decent job.
- A means to lift all curses that have been placed on your soul, thus improving your karma.
- A way to own a new home.
- A means to win the lottery.
- To drive around in a beautiful new car.
- To have plenty of money in the bank.

And, above all else, would you eventually like to be taken from this planet to either some Heavenly realm, or a more peaceful dimension? In space populated by advanced beings like the ones I've met? According to what I have learned, this is also no problem for those who respond to my unusual request.

My contacts with angelic entities from another dimension have indicated all this — and more — is within the realm of possibility, but that your chances of succeeding at WHATEVER you wish to achieve will be tenfold if you carry this powerful crystal cross with you at all times.

NOT FOR SALE

In another dream, I was warned that I must never sell the cross, but that it should be given to those who seek eternal comfort and spiritual awakening. Since the crosses are costly, there is no way that I can send them to the tens of thousands of individuals who are likely to ask for one through this article. Therefore, I believe I have come upon a very fair and just manner in which to put these crosses into circulation as was intended and cover at least part of my expense.

Therefore, anyone who orders a copy of my book THE TRANSFORMATION will receive both a copy of my autobiography (which I think you will agree makes for fascinating reading and will tell you a great deal more about the coming tribulations to strike this planet and how to personally avoid them as much as possible), and a FREE crystal cross.

TAKE PART IN AN EXPERIMENT

I am very anxious to know what effect wearing the cross will have on you, so after carrying it on your person for thirty days won't you please drop me a line and let me know how your life has changed for the better?

I realize in distributing these crystal crosses that I am entering upon a totally new threshold in human understanding. I d. Initially KNOW from personal experience, that there are advanced beings out there who, with God's help, wish to assist those who will open their hearts and their minds to other realms and realities.

security check was made of each individual. If they failed to provide proper credentials identifying them as news personnel, they were denied entrance.

Television cameramen, news photographers and reporters settled themselves in the room. Interviews began. Questions were asked. Answers were given. Film footage was taken by television cameras and flash pictures were snapped by photographers. Other speakers from the symposium had now also arrived for the press conference. Surely this was to be a news conference that would receive mass coverage across the nation and around the world.

Security police, in the meantime, had changed Springfield's hotel room and upon completion of the news conference, Len was escorted to his new hotel suite. His clothing, luggage and all materials had already been removed and placed in his new room. Upon arrival at our room, we found a posted sign on the door: "Do Not Disturb." Security personnel had both rooms, Mr. Springfield's and ours under surveillance at all times, so it seemed unlikely that someone could have gotten in unnoticed.

That evening, Len, my wife and I were under guard while enroute to the scheduled dinner banquet of the MUFON symposium. We were at the table with Dr. and Mrs. Hynek and had quite a conversation to say the least.

Security protection was provided to my wife and I until our departure late Saturday night. Mr. Springfield remained through Monday and was under protective care at all times. This was truly a classic "cloak-and-dagger" operation that to this day the "whos" and "whys" of it all have not been uncovered.

From the extreme interest shown by the news media at the symposium of the overall UFO subjects discussed, it was assumed there would be quite a story circulated by reporters.

The following day, hardly any use was made locally of the interviews obtained. By August 3, 1978, five days following the unusual series of events, the broadcasting and television stations across the country were puzzled as to why there were no follow-up reports on the symposium since an advance release, prior to the event, had received nationwide coverage.

Telephone calls came to Mr. Springfield and myself asking the same questions: "Where's the story?" Calls from the news media poured in from Los Angeles, San Diego, Sacramento and San Jose, California. Other calls came in from St. Louis, Atlanta, Oklahoma City and even from the Columbus, Ohio area. Newsmen also called from Canada and they all wanted to know where the story was on the crashed UFO cases.

Len and I learned later that small, scattered reports did appear in smaller cities and a worldwide report by a newswire service contained a four or five line report with noth-of importance given. It was a true case of some type of a news coverup. The real story was silenced!

during the early evening hours I was contacted by a Florida broadcasting station, WDBO in Orlando and was interviewed about the sensitive area of crashed UFOs.

Imagine my surprise following a number of calls from his many Floridian listeners during our talk on the crashed UFO subject, to have a phone call come in from the White House in Washington. For a moment I thought I had overstepped my bounds on crashed UFO discussions. But not so. The caller was Eugene Eldenberg, Acting Secretary to the Cabinet under President Carter's Administration. He was simply calling relative to a matter of a scheduled appearance of a White House official on the program I was being interviewed on. Mr. Eldenberg was not aware at that precise moment he was live on a telephone-talk show, and of all things, immediately following my discussion of crashed UFOs, alien cadavers and suppression of the subject by the government.

While he was on the line, I was officially introduced to Mr. Eldenberg by the host of the broadcast at which time I immediately discussed briefly the same subject and asked him if he was aware of such hard evidence. Needless to say, he was not, since this was not the area of his involvement in government matters. I thanked him just the same.

Following this call from the White House, I later decided to check into the matter and through a government source I learned that not only was Mr. Eldenberg the Acting Secretary to the Cabinet, but he was also Assistant to President Carter on Inter-Government Affairs. I sent Mr. Eldenberg a letter that also contained photostat copies of foreign newspaper reports of crashed UFOs in other countries, coupled with a report of motion picture footage of UFOs being sent from England and the Soviet Union to the United States and NASA for analysis purposes.

In my letter, I pointed out the American news media was totally silent of foreign crashed UFO cases and in one incident that involved a NASA team of experts being sent to the crash site in the Bolivia/Argentina area in 1978 to investigate the crashed UFO as seen by hundreds prior to impact. I also discussed two major government documents on UFOs. One from the United States Air Force and the other by the Central Intelligence Agency.

I urged Mr. Eldenberg to discuss the data with President Carter since he was an assistant to the president on inter-government matters. For after all, it was during the presidential campaign, prior to his election, that President Carter promised if elected he would release all the information the government has on UFOs to the public.

I also dispatched a short letter to President Carter, along with a carbon copy of the letter to Mr. Eldenberg, and requested his cooperation and reminded him of his campaign promise of 1976. Of course, and as usual, nothing came from it all. I have since written to Ronald Reagan on such matters and once again the White House has REMAINED SILENT.

A STRANGE SILENCE

During the latter months of 1981 I was busy promoting a week long symposium I have held annually for several years at Cape Canaveral, Fla. Usually the press goes out of its way to help publicize our event. This time though I sent out more press releases than usual, not a word appeared in print. Somehow I couldn't help but believe this situation had something to do with the fact that my press release had mentioned the fact that a great disclosure would be made at the conference related to crashed saucers.

Even more bizarre was the incident involving an Atlanta news outfit who invited me to Georgia in order to tape a program that would be beamed via satellite to over 800 cable stations around the country.

The show was cancelled after I had arrived in town without a suitable explanation. Perhaps the cancellation had something to do with the fact that after having been invited to participate in the program, I had written to ex-President Carter who lives in nearby Plains, Ga., and asked him to join me to discuss his sighting.

Following the meeting of December 9th, my wife and I returned to our room and relaxed after a very busy day. Shortly before 11:30 that night, the phone rang. Picking up the receiver I learned I was in telephone contact with the hostess of a talk show in Chicago. I had been interviewed by her during November and the listener response overwhelming. I was asked if she could call back in one hour and interview me on the subject of NASA and UFOs. I agreed. The time would be 12:30 a.m., Eastern Standard Time. Gathering my material for use on the broadcast, I waited for the call.

The 12:30 a.m. hour arrived and there was no phone call. By 12:45 a.m., I was still waiting for the Chicago newscaster to contact me. Nothing!

At 12:55 a.m., the phone rang and a gentleman at the other end identified himself as being affiliated with the station involved. They were sorry for the delay, but there was a news story that had suddenly broke in Chicago and it would be impossible to get me on that night. I immediately asked what type of news story it was. This caught him off guard. After stammering for a few seconds, he then said it involved "politics." I would tend to agree!

He further informed me that the hostess would call me the next day and explain to me what had happened...and...he also said: "Mr. Barry, you won't be on tomorrow night either."

What ever happened, happened quickly. At 11:30 p.m., I was invited to appear on this Chicago based telephone talk show. Before the next sixty minutes were to pass, something happened. There was to be no interview.

Is it possible that the phone in my room was bugged and if so, why? What could have really caused the Chicago incident?

My first appearance on that same show occurred on the 23rd of November, 1981 and following a brief discussion between the hostess and myself, the phone lines were opened.

Following several calls from the listeners, there came an electrifying call that could have possibly had something to do with my being taken off the air the second time around. Perhaps not. You be the judge.

The caller at the other end of the line identified himself, as a retired U.S. Navy Commander, and related an incident involving him and his two wingmen, of whom he also identified, during World War II over the South Pacific.

JAP ZEROS & UFOS

He told of a mind-blowing encounter that occurred to the three-some on the 23rd of November, 1943 as they were protecting the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Independence located directly below them.

While involving in this airborne mission, a group of Jap Zero fighter planes moved in for attack. They were outnumbered three to one.

When this happened, the three American navy fighter pilots prepared to get into position for an aerial battle with the Japanese pilots. While in the maneuver for position, something happened and our three Navy pilots were stunned.

The Japanese fighter planes began exploding in the air...and once more...they didn't have to.

SILENCERS RETURN!

These are the callers exact words: "It was that on the 23rd of November, 1943 and during the Second World War, an encounter occurred over the Pacific Ocean involving a circular-shaped UFO that fired some type of powerful light and destroyed every one of the Jap Zero fighter planes to our utter amazement."

"They simply disintegrated without smoke or fire. Upon returning to the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Independence, the gun cameras from each Navy plane were removed."

"The motion picture films were confiscated and we were debriefed by an air officer aboard the carrier and warned never to relate this incident to anyone at anytime!"

Somewhere within the locked files of military/government offices, rests those motion picture films of a UFO attack upon Japanese Zero fighter planes... far out of reach of the Freedom of Information Act.

After a period of 38 years, one of the threosome, as a result of my UFO discussion on a Chicago broadcasting station, decided to come forth and tell it like it was.

I wonder how many other such encounters such as this might be locked up in confidential files, around the world! Could this have been the cause of a cancellation of a second appearance on the Chicago radio station? We don't know, but we do know that something did indeed happen on a second appearance by yours truly, to further discuss the UFO subject, never happened. Perhaps we are dealing with the best kept secret of our time!

ALIENS & AMELIA EARHART

to operate the panels, radio facilities comes from within the spacecraft. Also inside the wheel housing were coils which could add energy to the fixed magnetic cylinders if necessary. The batteries which were used to supply the power were very light and therefore were able to supply all the power that the spacecraft required.

He added, "Speaking of weight, the armor we wear is very light and flexible." I had assumed that as the men moved so easily and quickly in the spacecraft.

Pointing to the drawing, the man showed me another room directly across from the radar room. This room contained all the materials which was used in their armor, food pills, liquid, batteries to operate the magnets on the end of their arms and other devices that might be needed for an emergency.

My armored host then showed me on the drawing where the batteries are carried. They are held in place by a magnetized base, by direct contact with no wires. They are in series giving them a variation of voltage. On the side of the room next to where I was sitting the batteries are held in parallel, the voltage remains the same but the amperage increases. I thoroughly studied this drawing and have been able to reproduce it with this document.

Then my host said, "Now it is time to explain how these space craft return to our home planet. First we rise above the earth's gravity pull by the speed of the wheel; this was explained by the pilot earlier. When ready to take off, the speed of the wheel is further increased and at this time the craft also becomes repellant to any gravity and these factors force us toward home faster than the speed of light. When we leave this earth's galaxy, we are in the next galaxy, heading toward our planet. As we approach, the craft is controlled by the operators there; the wheel is slowed down to the landing speed required. We are home."

Following this classified information, he straightened out the drawings on the table and turned to me by swinging his armor around on the stool. "Any questions?" he asked.

"Are your craft ever hit by other objects flying in space?" I asked curiously.

"It is nearly impossible for us to collide with any object in flight as our repelling charge is great enough to deflect away a smaller object coming toward us, or we will deflect away from a larger one and after passing, return on our course."

He continued, "If some comet or meteor should by some error not be registered on our recorders and they have a magnetic power greater than ours and should strike us, it would glance off because we have no flat surfaces to hit."

He continued by pointing to all the drawings and conveyed that there are no flat areas used on any of their satellites for this reason. Not only for the safety feature but they would create an unnecessary wind resist-

Qualified researchers are urgently needed to advance in the field of UFOlogy. Right now around the globe there are on the average of 2 sightings being made every 24 hours. Many of the reports involve not only sightings of weird craft, but actual contact with humanoid beings from other worlds.

To date, Timothy Green Beckley (editor and publisher of the UFO REVIEW) has personally investigated hundreds of authentic UFO landings, and contacts and is keenly interested in expanding his international network of investigators.

No degrees are necessary, no expensive schooling or even mail order courses need be taken. There are openings available in all 50 states and in most foreign countries.

When you become a member of the UFO INVESTIGATORS LEAGUE for the next year you receive the following benefits:

1. Handsome membership card with your own personal ID number which gives you authority to officially investigate UFO cases and report your findings to headquarters.
2. Beautiful UFO Investigators Certificate which you may hang with pride in your home.
3. UFO Investigators League Field Manual which tells you how best to interrogate witnesses. Give you the "important" questions to ask. And, what to look for the proof beyond a doubt, landing or contact has taken place.
4. A subscription to the highly confidential UFO SPOTTERS NEWSLETTER which contains TOP SECRET information on previously unpublished incidents too "hot to handle" in our regular publication. There is also a pen pal section, free swap it ads and photos of members.

UFO HOME

White Sands Proving Grounds where he was employed. This is near Las Cruces, New Mexico, a southern area of the same Mojave Desert. Interestingly, Fry's special contact among the Space People was "A-Lan" who told him that they were descendents of Lemuria, which had been wiped out by an atomic disaster (just as earth could be in 1984). Mystical California is the reported home, of course, of what remains of Lemurian people and culture. Mt. Shasta, to the north of the Mojave Desert, is a continuing point of fascination and inspiration for contactees. And so, even an encounter which was technically in New Mexico "pointed" northward toward the secrets of the Mojave and the special land in California.

A less-known contactee is Angelucci Orfeo who lives quietly in the Los Angeles area today. He received messages of great spiritual purity and significance. His first encounter was on May 23, 1952, near the Lockheed Plant where he worked in Burbank, California. He bank borders on the Mojave with desert-like conditions. To the east a few miles is Joshua Tree and Yucca Valley!

It is obvious that not only is there a lot of UFO activity in the Mojave but that it is a "safe" spot for encounters; all the encounters mentioned above led to great enlightenment for humankind (if only we had bothered to listen). A few "star people" and contactees not only listened to the wise words from these desert contactees, but went on to "carry the word forth" and to keep the tradition going of skywatches and shared encounters in the "magical" Mojave. The Blue Rose UFO conference held on July 3 and 4, 1983, is an example of the tradition and work which is being carried on in this area. Rev. Robert Short of the Blue Rose Ministry lives in Joshua Tree, has had many encounters and insights from his Space Friends, and has channeled their words of peace and love for several decades.

Gabriel Green also remains a voice of major influence from the desert (he lives in Yucca Valley). Gabriel has on-going contacts and receives messages from the Space Masters who offer planet earth a new lease on life. Gabe sees modern day visitations by our Space Brothers as the most important event in the history of humankind. His telepathic communication with his Space Brothers and his own higher mind tell him that the Mojave Desert is the area he should be in, in order to receive the clearest messages and do this vitally important work.

Are all desert contacts destined to be famous ones? Are sightings of actual space craft a thing of the past in this special area? The answer to both questions is, "No!" There have been many sightings and contacts which have gone unheralded, which have not led toward the individual to become a well-known contactee or space channel. And the sightings and encounters continue today! This article was originally inspired by an account which I received from a very intelligent, reputable young lady who had no previous interest in the UFO phenomenon. However, one night she sighted "something" near Indio, California (the far end of Joshua Tree National Park area), which perhaps will forever change her life and philosophy. Here is her account in her own words:

"My name is Denise Johnston and the following account happened to me on Friday, October 21, 1983, on a late Friday afternoon.

"I left work a little today as I felt like clearing my thoughts by driving with no particular direction in mind. I had just received my new car from my parents and my boya circle but not a perfect circle.

"I was shaking for quite some time after that and forgot all about my problems as I jumped in the car and sped as fast as I could go. Didn't care about anything at this point, just wanted to get to the safety of my home in Long Beach.

"I still think about that day and wonder what the purpose was and will be and how this may influence my life."

At the close of her account, Denise expresses the spiritual awakening sensation; she will never be "the same" as before her sighting for she now knows within her own mind that something is indeed "out there" which earth science has not yet identified or formally recognized.

When Tim Beckley visited me recently he told me a fascinating story about a woman who had gone onboard a UFO which had landed in Desert Christ Park, which is a small park outside of Yucca Valley. The park has in it life-sized figures of the great Biblical figures from Jesus on down, and in addition to being a wonderful place to visit, it also has high spiritual vibes.

Tim had heard the story from Gabriel Green who considers the individual who related the experience to be above making up a tall tale of this nature. What interests me most about the contact is the fact that the woman involved claims to have met several different types of aliens inside the circular-shaped craft. This is a very similar to what happened to me many years ago when I was a little girl living in Iowa. No only were there several types of peculiar looking beings onboard the craft, but one who looked very human in appearance whom I called my "Special One," who still channels through to me.

The experience took place at about midnight on November 22, 1977. Barbara Beaver, a woman of Indian descent was meditating in her apartment, about four blocks away. She looked out the window and saw a light zig zagging across the sky. It came closer and closer until it hovered over her apartment. Then it shot a beam of blue light down on her. At that time she heard the words in her mind "Barbara, come to Desert Christ Park."

Even though it was a cool evening, she trudged up there in her slippers and painting clothes, since she was an artist. When she first got there there was nothing in sight. But, after a few minutes, a light appeared behind the hill there. It was a ship of about 100 feet in diameter. It set down very low over this parking field and extended a ramp of steps, without touching the ground, just hovering. It left no landing marks.

Before she ascended the ramp, they spoke to her again and asked "Barbara, do you feel you are ready for this experience?" She answered, "I really don't know, but I'll try it anyway." After she went up the ramp, she was guided to a room where she went through a decontamination process. They asked her to take off her clothes and put them into some sort of hamper for decontamination. She was reluctant to do so at first, as she thought that they would be watching. But she finally decided that she looked pretty scroungy in her old clothes and would probably look better nude anyway. So she took them off and put them in the hamper. Then they guided her to a hangar where there was a typical space suit of the type that once you put it on, you are instantly warm. It was the type of suit that you hear about which can not be penetrated by the hottest blow torches.

She was gone for three to three and a half hours. There were four beings on the craft. One was a typical "little man," about five feet tall with large loving eyes, like E.T., and mushroom-type skin, and a robotized body. Then there was a tall man, about seven feet tall, who looked like an American Indian. He was very striking. There also was a man and a woman who looked like movie stars from our world.

Following her experience, Barbara lectured for several groups in which there were scientifically oriented people who believed her story because of all the information which she was relating, without having any technical background. Her experience was unique because she has a photographic mind. She was able to do 40 to 50 paintings of her experience.

During her encounter she went for a brief ride into space. She said that she was traveling at super light speed and she could see the stars skipping by, just like streaks of light or like a UFO. She was out of the solar system and felt that there was a time warp taking place.

UFO witness Denise Johnston says she will never be the same after her experience.

I have had several unexplainable experiences while visiting Joshua Tree. The area is of an alien beauty and well worth a sightseeing trip, regardless of the space activity there. Huge piles of boulders and rocks are stacked on top of each other in bizarre shapes; a close friend with whom I toured this area, even photographed one which looked exactly like "ET" of the Spielberg movie fame. Often there will be a rock at the tip of a "stack" of rocks which looks as though it just had to be placed there by a levitating machine, for it seems that no natural process would leave a boulder balanced so precariously. This desert area is a "national monument," which is confusing for it sounds like there is a man-made monument there. Instead, what is meant is that the bizarre area is a monument in its entirety; it is basically a national park area but without camping conveniences. It is unspoiled and one should be very proud in its natural aura. The Joshua Tree itself is a strange tree/cactus which looks exactly like the ridiculous trees in Dr. Seuss's books for children. It is a plant which grows only in this special area; the magnetism of the area is evident, even to the non-psychic or non-metaphysical person. While traveling through Joshua Tree, I couldn't help but wonder if the Space Brothers had chosen this area because it reminded some of them of a home planet and environment; the whole place is downright "alien" in the first place!

An associate and I recently experienced a high degree of strangeness when we stayed in the "park" (the area is much too large to be called a "park") after dark. The stars were the clearest I had ever seen for in these desert skies, there is no street light pollution, no distracting light to dim the heavens. Millions of stars hung like suspended orbs over our heads.

We were traveling down the very dark road when we commented that a car seemed to be coming in our direction (this was a major event because there were no other cars in the area at all). A while later, after we had stopped and looked at the stars, we proceeded down the road in our car, and realized, "That car still hasn't gotten here." At that point, we looked at each other in amazement, realizing that no car had passed us since our first comment, there were no turn-offs (no homes out in the desert, in the middle of a National Park!), and that a normal car would have passed us many minutes ago. Also, we observed that this "car" had only one yellow/white light.

RARE BACK ISSUES OF UFO REVIEW STILL AVAILABLE

For those of you who have just recently found out about our publication we have on hand a few rare back issues of the UFO REVIEW which are available at $1.50 each plus 50¢ for First Class postage per issue. We can supply an assortment of 9 or 10 back issues for $12.00 postage paid (our choice, but let us know what issues you already have and we will try not duplicate them). Send requests to UFO REVIEW BACK ISSUE DEPARTMENT, Box 316 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10001 (You may use the coupon on page 16 to order if desired).

We would just get a good glimpse of it ahead of us, coming toward us, seemingly on the road, when it would "phase" out again. The light was very bright, every bit as bright as car lights. We never did pass the "car." We glimpsed it a last time and that was that. We were left scratching our heads, wondering what kind of "machine" or craft had been rolling down the road at us off and on, all evening.

After that experience, we realized we were far from the place we thought we were, and ended up driving hundreds of miles to get back to civilized territory. My associate had visited Joshua Tree several times before and was dumbfounded at how we "ended up" where we did. On our long, long drive back, we noticed a green light over a mountain (we could see the top of the mountain ridge and this light was not on it) which drifted along with us. It was not a star and it also phased in and out.

I returned from this one brief day's trip to Joshua Tree (which turned out to go well into the night as well) with a new respect, curiosity, and love for this area. It is remote and so makes perfectly logical sense as an extraterrestrial base of operations. Contact in this area is not interrupted by the passing crowds of humanity; it may be done in peace, with the least trauma possible, with gentleness and privacy. The Mojave area also has a pureness of energy and atmosphere which is conducive to contact with those of higher, purer, energies and worlds.

The topping on my own desert experiences was made when Timothy Green Beckley, publisher of UFO REVIEW, told me about a conversation he had with Rev. Robert Short shortly after I made the Joshua Tree trip. Rev. Short happened to mention that a security officer working nights in the park had reported a vivid UFO sighting while he and his family were in the Joshua Tree area (Rev. Short lives near Joshua Tree Park and has had frequent sightings there). Upon careful dating, we realized that this sighting occurred on the night that I got "lost" within the desert forest! While this "magic" area offers experience and inspiration for nearly all who wish to spend time within its boundaries, the truly important message from this area is that it is an area for those seeking enlightenment and contact. The scientific investigations of sightings in this area have been adequate and there have been many, but these investigators come away knowing no more than when they investigate sightings all over the world. However, those who are "open" to messages and universal truths are the most rewarded by this highly spiritual area. From the Giant Rock Conventions with the "bridging dimensional barriers" promise of the unfinished Integretron, to the 1984 experiences of travelers such as Denise Johnston and myself, the California Mojave remains as a bridge itself, to higher dimensions and to actual space contact. In his epic movie CLOSE ENCOUNTER OF THE THIRD KIND, Steven Spielberg chose to open the movie with a desert scene. The Mojave dust storm swirls around the UFO investigators who ask the elderly Mexican contactee, "Are we the first?" The wise old man smiles, knowing that these "scientific" investigators are not the first and that they haven't a beginning comprehension of the enormity of the event which he has experienced. The elderly gentleman, a life-long desert resident, says simply, "The sun came out and sang to me last night." It is very prophetic and wise of Spielberg to open his inspired motion picture with the Western desert for it has provided a place of relative safety for the Space Belongs who work with earth and for the "human" contactees whom they inspire and to whom they channel messages of Good Will Toward Men. The Mojave in general and the California Joshua Tree/Yucca Valley areas in particular continue to beckon those who do seek contact with space intelligence and there is a virtual promise that encounters, revelations, and inspirations will occur to the desert traveler who seeks truth. ■

■ SEEM INCREDIBLE? PLEASE READ ON...

Researcher Bill Cox has traveled the world learning secrets that have long been known by only a mighty few. His investigations have taken him to South America where he has penetrated the deepest jungles and deciphered the technology of civilizations which vanished centuries ago. In Egypt he has explored the hidden chambers of the high priests whose knowledge of universal laws was supreme.

Bill's relentless search for the truth has drawn him to some definite conclusions: the most far reaching being that our world is literally criss crossed by other dimensions, invisible realms and unseen kingdoms, each one interacting upon all others. Though our eyes may not see them, there are trillions of life forces around us at all times vibrating to high frequencies which put them beyond our spectrum of visibility. Bill Cox says that once we have educated ourselves to understand these things that the cosmos takes on new meaning and we realize that all of creation is UNDER OUR COMMAND.

THE ELEMENTAL & ANGELIC KINGDOMS

When the earth was formed, God made man and woman in his image and gave them power over all domain. But in order to truly establish a rapport with his creations, it is necessary to realize that God also created a host of other kingdoms. Right now—ALL AROUND US—there are uncountable tiny creatures which exist in what is called the "ether." They are just waiting for the instant in which they are called upon to do the work they perform so well. They do not look upon their task as a chore. In fact, they experience great ecstasy when they do what they are meant to do. Whether it is help in obtaining you money, fame, love or anything else your heart desires, they do what you want—as long as you know how to talk to them—without complaint or resistance. It is their nature to obey like we find in a colony of bees or ants. Besides, they would reject ecstasies awaiting their call should they rebel. There is a hierarchy, an angelic government that exists above these life forms and it too can be put to our best advantage just as the Lord intended.

MIND POWER TO CREATE AND TO HEAL

Using mind energy it is possible to move or alter an object at a distance. There is even a practical experiment that everyone can do regardless of training and you will find this fully explained on page 9.

One person who has adapted the principles in this book has been seen by the author to turn ordinary table butter into money. Likewise, there are those now living on our planet who can cure the ailments of others simply by saying a few words, and thinking in the prescribed manner.

The universe, says Bill Cox, can be broken down into several planes, among which there is an order of invisible realms. Turn to page 11, and immediately you will find out the jobs performed by such invisible beings as Devas, Undines, Sylphs and Salamanders, and how these forces can be put to producing whatever we need to make our life more comfortable on the physical plane. After all why should we go without when God did not intend it that way? In this book you will find out how to create an archetypal form and thus bring into physical manifestation anything you desire no matter how impossible your dream seemed before.

THE ANCIENTS KNEW ABOUT IT

A long way from being uneducated, many ancient cultures existed that were far superior to ours when it came to knowledge of the universe. Time travel, bi-location and energy accumulation were common feats to the masters of the past. For example, they realized that the pyramid shape was of great significance. That is why pyramids can be found not only in Egypt, but in China, Africa, Mexico, Central America and the United States.

The ancients knew about healing the body and developing the mind. They were familiar with space travel, having established communication with advanced beings from the stars who assisted in their achievements. They knew how to read the aura, and how to project holographic structures in the sky. They were actually able to create "thoughtographs," and upper most they knew how to live in harmony with everything in nature.

Now you too can experience an incredible leap forward in time. No longer do you have to struggle through life. With the knowledge gained from this exciting new book you can now lead the pack and see your wildest dreams become a reality. Don't hold back any longer, become a SUPERBEING and achieve your destiny without delay!

ance when flying in any atmosphere on the planets they visit.

For the first time during this session, one of the two men that I originally met who were sitting nearby conveyed to me that several of the earth people told them that "flying saucer" witnesses who had been hypnotized claimed they saw UFOs that were square, oblong and even shaped like a triangle. They said, "It is like your earlier statement, 'They describe not what they saw, but what they think they should have seen'."

Then the second man that I had met conveyed to me that I would be asked why we did not bring back the earth people after we had received all the information we needed from them. "The truth is," he said, "that they do not want to return!" On our planet we do not have wars or any form of crime. We eliminate those undesirable agitators and criminals as we progressed to our present way of living as many older planets have done."

They conveyed to me how the criminal was not judged as we do here on earth. A guilty party on their planet was taken on one of the satellites and dropped into space.

"The earth people are visited by our people," he continued, "we learn your English and other earth languages by transfer of thought or telepathy. Every one there is on an equal basis and happy with their new experience."

A long pause signified that our interview was over.

The three men stood up and I was led back to the cylinder I had arrived in. It came down over me and locked into place. Before I could thank them or say goodbye, it became rather dark. A voice conveyed to me, "We are returning you the same way we brought you here as the cylinder you are in must be lowered to your car and we do not want to take the chance that the transfer would frighten you. You might forget all the things you have learned."

The next thing I remember, I was at the station wagon. It was now dark. I shook myself out of my bewilderment! I turned on the car headlights; the camera was still where I had set it for the sunset. I went over to see if any film had been run through to photograph the sunset. Not a foot had been exposed.

I put the camera back in the car, walked around and got into the driver's seat...What a fantastic dream!

When I got back to the lodge, Guy's light was out so I went to my room and to bed.

The next morning after breakfast, we went south and made the film of the irrigation scenes we didn't get the day before. We returned to Fort Garland and headed east to the town of La Veta and made a picture of a train runby with the Spanish Peaks in the background. (I still have that film). While we were waiting for the train, I started to tell Guy about my sunset experience but he brushed me off by accusing me of going back to find the pretty girl at the lemonade stand.

On different occasions I have told about my experience but I received all sorts of razzing and wise cracks so I didn't bring it up again. During the years that went by I have seen three UFOs with other people. I have also read dozens of articles relating to flying saucers.

In 1980 I read that news story about strange plane disappearances baffling experts. A short time later, the article about Barbara Walters Historic Choices woken in me the desire to find out if my 1959 experience would now interest anyone.

After reading this story to a writer friend, he arranged for me to meet a Dr. Peter Van Arsdale, Ph.D. at the University of Denver. After going over my story and asking me many questions, he came to the conclusion that I could have made contact with an out of state satellite. After our interview, he telephoned Dr. Leo Sprinkle, Ph.D., Director of Counseling and Testing at the University of Wyoming.

I made an appointment to meet with Dr. Sprinkle the following Saturday at the University. We spent five hours together and the doctor came to the conclusion that it would be almost impossible for anyone to have the detail in describing the satellite and other information that I had regarding the wheel and operation.

Later, I was invited to give a presentation to the Rocky Mountain Conference on UFO Investigation at the University of Wyoming, May 23, 24, 25, 1980. There were many other participants that related their experiences also. A video camera taped us at this time.

After a coffee break, Dr. Sprinkle took over the meeting and told us he would not attempt to summarize each participant's views of the significance of the conference but would describe his own reactions. He emphasized that the video camera had captured us as we were, common people talking about our uncommon experiences. I have copies of all the talks as well as a great deal of tape recorded during the session.

Following the conference, Dr. Sprinkle prepared a 133 page report containing some of the stories of the participants including mine. He also described his own reaction. With this booklet and the dozens of other articles I have, I will now describe my own reactions.

When Amelia Earhart and Fred Noonan took off from Lee that day and have not been seen since, it shouldn't baffle those experts! Their plane was probably plucked out of the air and they could be in that dome city with many of our earth people. Both Amelia and Fred had a tremendous knowledge of aviation of that period and would have lent much knowledge of the earth to the outer space visitors.

As I think back on the events over twenty years ago and reflect on their importance, I am more and more convinced that the amazing experience was not a dream but an actuality!

It is now several years later. During the ensuing years I have had no contact whatsoever from any outer space beings. But on February 18, 1981, at eleven pm, I had finished reading the newspaper and turned off the light. Before I had a chance to turn over to a more comfortable position in bed, I felt a transfer of thought or telepathy exactly like it was in 1959 when I was standing in a cylinder aboard that UFO in Southern Colorado. This time it was conveyed to me that I was receiving a communication from the same people that were aboard that amazing August evening.

Resume all 55 BACK ISSUES July 1972, through Final Edition, October 1981.

This more ALL-INCLUSIVE catalog #2, featuring Pyramid Guide articles "by subject" is supplemental to brochure #1, which continues to present a chronological history of "articles" appearing in editions 1 through 55 "by heading only."

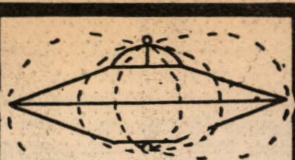

We have also expanded coverage by including our former books and products/flyers containing information closely related to the 'Guide's publishing goals. Brochure #1, will continue to be available upon request, if accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope. In addition 50¢ will bring an introductory copy of the Pyramid Guide, to any address in North America ($1.00 overseas by airmail).

Catalog #2, also includes reference to important letters and articles written by subscribers and certain contributors throughout the world. Added to these, are outstanding photos, illustrations, captions and notices spanning 9 years of the newsletter's life beginning in September 1972.

You will notice that some subjects appear more than once, being crossreferenced under different headings for your convenience. To conserve space, we have occasionally abbreviated, thus "A" may represent Astrology or Atlantis depending upon the category shown; "L" for Letter, BR = Book Review, Pyr. for Pyramid, etc.

The Pyramid Guide collection provides a unique and rare reference library with so many lengthy subjects tightly compressed, yet receiving in-depth coverage. It continues to be an extremely valuable research and study source of hard-to-find New Age information; for the 'Guide offers insights into little known and even less understood mysteries.

The telepathic voice conveyed, "We want to commend you for your efforts to tell your people those many things you have learned from us that evening. We did not contact you before this, knowing your earth people had rejected your efforts to tell them of your experience."

"We are now grateful that you became concerned again after reading the article of the mysterious plane disappearances and especially the story about the last hours of Amelia Earhart."

At this time I spoke out loud, realizing that my thoughts were being telepathically transmitted to them. "Do you know where Amelia is?" I waited a moment, then said, "Is she with our earth people on your planet?"

I received another short vibration and for the first time, I'm sure I heard a voice. It said, "I AM AMELIA. I was the fifth 'man' you described in your story as I operated the large electron panel that you saw through the large door."

Excited now, I asked hurriedly, "Where is Fred?"

The reply came, "Fred is a pilot on another satellite."

I said, "Forty three years have passed since you left earth. You must be rather old to be operating such a responsible job."

A moment of silence existed and then it was conveyed to me — no voice now — "In our galaxy there is a time difference of ten years to one year in your galaxy. All earth people on our planet have only aged four years during this time."

Then I asked, "Would it be possible for me to come aboard your satellite again and take pictures and also visit with my friend, Amelia?"

The reply came. It was to see what reaction takes place when I attempt to enlighten the people here on earth with my stories.

I got out of bed, put on my robe and went out the front door to see if I could spot the satellite but I could not locate it. Returning to the house, I had a drink of water and went back to bed.

It was certainly not a dream. It was real. The memory of the 1959 event fades a little with time, but this new experience is vividly etched in my mind. I shall never forget it. ■

GOD SAITH: "BEHOLD,

... the selfishness of man hath made the world a place of wretchedness. The people are in misery and want. Go then, quickly to them, and provide a remedy." See Oahspe, verses 12 and 13, page 773.

Let us "Go then, quickly to them, and provide a remedy." Let us fill the earth "with the knowledge of the glory of the LORD, as the waters cover the sea."

For the Oahspe bible can so do. The Oahspe bible is a thousand times more able and available than the atom bomb. It can redeem the world from its "place of wretchedness" into Eternity, The All Perfect.

Let us then promote the Oahspe bible to speak; and redeem the world from its "place of wretchedness" into knowledge and good dominion; and from poverty into Life Eternal!

STRANGE CREATURES OF THE OLD WEST

BY DENNIS, AN AMERICAN INDIAN

INDIAN TRIBES OFFER MANY STRANGE LEGENDS ABOUT SPOOK LIGHTS AND BIZARRE FORMS OF LIFE FROM HAIRY GIANTS TO BOBCCATS WITH THE FACE OF HUMANS. THE AUTHOR OF THIS ARTICLE IS A NATIVE AMERICAN WHO HAS OBSERVED FIRST HAND THAT WHICH HIS FOREFATHERS HAVE PASSED ON IN THEIR TRADITIONS.

I come from a country that is 7,000 to 10,000 feet above sea level, with ponderosas and high pines. It is known for what we call spook lights. They are usually red or blue. We have a lava flow that is undatable. Some archaeologists have tried to date it, but they can't figure out when it erupted. We have a couple of active volcano areas. There are a few areas which cannot be explored because of the terrain. The Indians have many legends about these areas.

When I was growing up, I remember seeing lights zip across the sky. These lights would not originate in the lava flow. They would originate somewhere else and then go to the lava flow. There have been archaeologists in the area. Most of them don't make it past midnight. Something scared them!

I took one of them out one night. I took him into an area which the Indians call "doshlwee."

one that's in that area. It's an unusual area because it's an active volcano. In the winter there is anywhere from two to eight feet of snow. Temperatures may drop to 39 below. Yet in this one area, there are plants which couldn't exist anywhere else because they would freeze.

This area is between Grants, New Mexico and Raymond, New Mexico. Azuni, New Mexico is the tribal center there. If you stand in the center of town and look south, a large, picturesque, mountain would be to your left. When the sun comes up on the solstice, it comes up right over the top of the town, over the top of this mountain.

There are two rocks there, through which the sun shines, down to the middle of town. Legend has it that Coronado and some of his explorers stumbled into Azuni just at the solstice. Because the town was all cut sandstone, there was a lot of silica and silicates in it. So it looked like gold and they thought they had found the seven cities of Samola.

There have been a lot of occasions when unusual things have happened. Once, when I was about ten or eleven years old, I was in few don't make it. The first time I went out, I didn't make it. The canyon, just below me, lit up as bright as day. Being very young, I decided that running through the cactus at high speed and jumping barbed wire fences would be safer than sticking around. So I went screaming back to the village.

Later on, when I was about thirteen or fourteen, I decided to try it again. A similar thing happened, only this time, when I noticed the large lights, I went to explore and see what was going on. By the time I got to the area, there was nothing there. The lights had dimmed and gone away.

The tradition up there tells of different types of visitations. I grew up with people who believed that if there was a visitation, it was our government causing it. If we had a flying saucer in the area, it had a U.S. Air Force sticker on it. Later on, these ladies became very unsettled by things they had seen out there.

On December 18, 1967 we were having our traditional races. It was about eleven o'clock, when a couple of red dots appeared over the horizon. They looked like they were sitting right on the mountain. Then within a few seconds they took off across the sky. On their way across they did a few tricks. They stopped right on the horizon of the other side, and then they went across the horizon, and disappeared. Everyone went in for a prayer and meditation and decided to see what was going on.

There were reports of witch doctors who started their walk in New Mexico and all of a sudden showed up in Mexico, traveling two or three thousand miles in a couple of days. The witch doctor who did this was old when I was growing up and he's still around. I'm 36 and I remember him from the time when I was two or three years old. He still walks through the desert. He still makes his meditation runs and his medicine runs. He has some charms that are very unusual.

Even the Indians that I met in California had legends. I got into the Yeti — Bigfoot — legends, when I was in the service. I found that the many tribes which were up on Mount Shasta all had a joint story. It was about a baby born from a sphere that had fallen from the sky. They were supposed to be stronger than normal. They were supposed to
